SIX CLINGING TO WRECKAGE

Vessel Slowly Pounding To Pieces In Heavy Sea Off Coast

(International News Service)

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 30 — A short distance out from St. Johns, Newfoundland, six men were clinging early today to the wreck of the British steamship Torhamvan which was believed to be slowly pounding to pieces on the fog shrouded rocks of New Foundland. Heavy seas were running.

The ship, bound from St. Johns to Halifax, crashed on the rocks last night, shortly after clearing from St. Johns. All passengers and part of the crew, numbering twenty-two persons in all, reached shore in safety in a lifeboat, after two lifeboats had been smashed in attempts to launch them.

Rescuers from the shore today were awaiting a partial clearing of the fog or a lull in the high seas to make a dash to the wreck in an effort to take off the six members of the crew still aboard.

A cable to the agents of the ship here stated that it was feared the Torhamvan, a vessel of 4,000 tons berth, would be a total loss.

Smith-Mills Fight For New York Governorship Holds Nation Interest

Leaders Of Both Sides Predict Large Majorities For Their Candidates

Agreed That Smith's Election Will Mean Presidential Run In 1928

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—"Al Smith will be re-elected by 235,000"—Tammay's estimate.

"Ogden L. Mills will defeat Al Smith by around 110,000"—forecast of George K. Morris, chairman of the Republican state committee.

Somewhere between these figures probably lies the answer to one of the most hectic governorship fights New York has witnessed in a generation—a fight that has seen no quarter asked or given, and a fight that has involved bitter personalities and much hard feeling.

National Interest.

It is a battle too, that rivets the attention of national political leaders of both parties as does no other state contest, for inestricably bound up in it is the political future of a certain candidate for the presidential nomination 18 months hence.

It is agreed by Republicans and Democrats alike that if Al Smith is elected for his fourth term as governor on Tuesday, nothing can prevent his being a candidate, perhaps an outstanding candidate, for

Make Plans For Traffic Meeting

Will Make Effort To Secure Uniform Traffic Laws Throughout State

CITY OFFICIALS WILL ATTEND

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 30.—In an effort to secure uniform traffic rules throughout the state, a conference of those responsible for the regulations in cities and boroughs, will be held here December 8, the Pennsylvania Motor Federation announced here today.

Mayors and traffic directors of all cities as well as the officials of all the larger boroughs have been asked to attend the conference. The sessions will be held in the capitol.

The federation's officials said today that there are so many methods of directing traffic in Pennsylvania cities and "so much confusion exists as a result", that the conference of the executives was decided upon. Recommendations agreed upon by the officials to come here will be presented to the legislature.

It is hoped, the officials said, to secure regulations which will make the Philadelphia motorist equally at home in Erie and Pittsburgh, as well as in the smaller towns where traffic regulation is often a matter of personal opinion.

By BEN STERN

CANTON, O., Oct. 30.—Strong evidence of Pat McDermott's complicity in the conspiracy to halt Don R. Mellett's crusade on the Canton "Jungle" by killing the publisher of the Canton News was in the hands of Ora Slater, Ohio's star detective, today as a result of complete identification and recognition of the "key figure" by five different persons.

Each of these five persons identified McDermott as the man who on various occasions had either visited Mellett in his office in the Canton News or who had been caught prowling about the dead editor's home before the murder on July 16.

Browning May Lose "Sunshine"

Start Action To Take Dorothy "Sunshine" Browning Away From "Daddy"

BROWNING PLANS TO FIGHT MOVE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Edward "Daddy" Browning, the wealthy 52-year-old real estate man who got himself into a peck of trouble by adopting young girls, is facing one more big worry—the prospect of the court's taking Dorothy Sunshine Browning away from him.

Dorothy, now ten years old, was adopted by Browning long before his adventures with Mary Spas and Frances "Peaches" Heenan, with whom he played the dashing role of "Prince Charming".

Now, just about the time he had ironed out some of his difficulties with "Peaches", who fled his sumptuous apartment taking with her everything but the kitchen sink, along comes a move to take "Sunshine" away on the ground that Browning isn't the right kind of a father for her.

It was learned today that the

District Attorneys Urge Changes In Criminal Law

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 30.—Sweeping changes in Pennsylvania's criminal laws to prevent law-breakers from escaping punishment thru technical "loopholes" of the present laws was advocated by the district attorneys of the state in session here today.

The annual convention got under way late yesterday and will conclude its sessions today. Attorneys representing nearly every county in the state are present.

Some of the changes the commonwealth's chief law enforcement officers will seek from the next legislature are:

An act to force convicted criminals to file their appeals within 30 days and to compel argument of the appeals within 90 days.

An act permitting district attorneys and judges to comment to juries upon defendant's refusing to take the stand to be cross-examined.

Legislation calling for more drastic punishment of hit-and-run motorists.

Laws to make carrying of deadly weapons in vehicles or about the person an offense subject to same penalty as carrying concealed weapons on the person.

Establishment of a state bureau of crime recordization.

Marion D. Patterson of Blair county, president, presided over the sessions. Chief Justice Robert von Moschzisker was scheduled to address the prosecutors today.

Nine Miners Are Killed In Blast

Gas Explosion Occurs In Colliery At Nanticoke This Morning

TWO OF BODIES ARE RECOVERED

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 30.—Nine miners were killed in a gas explosion in the No. 7 colliery of the Susquehanna Collieries company at Nanticoke near here today, according to word received here.

Company officials were without definite information.

Mine rescue squads were rushed to Nanticoke from mines in this vicinity.

Miners Trapped.

Later reports stated that nine miners were trapped by a terrific explosion of gas a few minutes after they reported for work.

Two bodies have been removed and rescue squads are trying desperately to reach the others, all of whom are believed to be dead.

Cave-ins and deadly black damp prevented the rescuers from reaching the entombed miners.

The bodies recovered were those of Anthony Kaminski, 23, and Joseph Novak, 42. The other victims still inside the mine are Andrew Novak, 35; Louis Novak, 40; Joseph Markarczetk, 38; John Koshinski, 23; John Wadas, 23; Joseph Bodarka and Joseph Mikeleuski.

Four of the victims were related, three being brothers and the fourth a son-in-law.

Fifteen miners were entombed in the section of the mine wrecked by the explosion. The others were on their way in and would have been entombed also had the explosion occurred five minutes later.

MAN IS KILLED ON BUTLER-NEW CASTLE ROAD THIS MORNING

Guy L. McCandless, aged 47 years assistant game warden of Butler county, whose home was at No. 441 West Pearl street, Butler, was almost instantly killed shortly after 11 o'clock this morning on the New Castle-Butler road, near Prospect, when the machine in which he was riding, was struck by another car and the gas tank exploded. Mr. McCandless died enroute to the Butler Memorial hospital.

W. W. Guiney, of Oneida, Pa., who was driver of the car, was slightly injured, as were his two sons, Joseph and Edward. They were burned somewhat when they dragged the body of McCandless out of the burning car.

The car was enroute from Butler to New Castle, Mr. Guiney being on the way to Whitestown, to visit his father.

The highway was enveloped with fog, and when effort was made to turn out to avoid a collision with another car, a machine behind crashed into the car and broke the gas tank, exploding it.

McCandless was alive when his body was taken from the car by autoists who were passing, but died before the hospital was reached. He is survived by his widow and three daughters.

Great Rush Of Hunters After Licenses Today

As Usual, Large Number Put Off Getting Permits Until Season Opens

NINE MINERS ARE KILLED IN BLAST

Eleventh hour applicants for hunting licenses thronged the office of County Treasurer David Nessle this morning, in preparation for the opening of the rabbit season next Monday.

When the treasurer arrived this morning he found a crowd waiting in the hallway. As the morning wore on this crowd increased until applicants were standing in line from the treasurer's windows, clear out to the front door of the court room.

While there is some other game that may be shot after November 1, the principal hunting will be done for rabbits, which are said to be very plentiful this year. The season only lasts one month.

In many sections of the county farmers have posted their property against hunting, and it will be well for sportsmen to be careful where they are hunting or get consent of the owners of the land, where this is possible.

Farmers claim that they have been forced to post their property against hunters, because there are some who do serious damage by starting fires, letting down fences and shooting live stock.

The great majority of hunters, it is said, are careful, but they are made to suffer by the irresponsibles who care nothing for the damage they inflict.

Special Train Brings Rooters For Day's Game

Over 400 Students Accompany Pittsburgh Team To New Castle

ROOTING SQUAD ARRIVES AT NOON

New Castle High School Band And Students Give Visitors Fine Reception

Four hundred strong, followers of the Schenley High school of Pittsburgh arrived in New Castle shortly after noon today to attend the classic carded for Franklin field this afternoon, when Schenley High plays New Castle High.

The Schenley rooters are confident of success. Their undefeated record for this season they feel will be in the same shape when they leave tonight.

Got In Early

Scheduled to arrive at 12:15, the Schenley rooters got in on their special train at 12:07, with the result that the New Castle High school band was not at the station. The advance guard of rooters was present, however, and gave the visitors a warm welcome. A few minutes later the band appeared on Washington street and a parade was staged.

The friendliest of feelings exist between the Pittsburgh and New Castle fans. Pittsburgh knows that New Castle has a good team, and New Castle knows that Schenley has a strong team. The fans are keyed up to the possibilities of a close game and although the weath

Announcement was made today of another splendid gift which has been made to the New Castle Consistory. The gift is a Baldwin concert grand piano, valued at $2,600.00, which has been given for use in the new Scottish Rite Cathedral, by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Snyder of the Snyder Piano Company.

The handsome new instrument was installed on Friday afternoon and will be used in the services Sunday afternoon when a dedicatory service will be held.

"Such a wonderful building calls for a wonderful musical instrument," said Mr. Snyder today, "and Mrs. Snyder and myself are pleased to give the piano for use in the Cathedral."

This is Booster Day for old Ne-Ca-Hi, a day to get out and root, to whistle and yell and behave like a kid, to howl and to holler and hoot. For this is the day that the Booster guy is out to defend his team, and you'll have to excuse him if now and then, he breaks out in a warlike scream. He's out to engage in a battle of yells with the cohorts from Schenley high and he cares not a whit if the field is wet, or its soggy or heavy or dry. For the Booster roots when the team is ahead, or when the team is behind, he's a dead game sport and for size of scores, it's seldom the Booster will mind. It's the game that counts, and the way they play, not the score or the size of the gate, and this is the day the Booster is out, the weather is forty-eight.

Colossal Task After Banquet

Cleaning Up After Record Banquet In Cathedral Immense Job

MEAT FOR BANQUET WAS COOKED HERE

There is usually a lot of work after a banquet, and the bigger the banquet the more work to be done. This was true on Friday in the dining rooms of the Scottish Rite cathedral, following the community dinner when 2600 people were served at one time.

"We hardly knew where to start" said C. Ed Brown, who had charge of the serving of the banquet. "There were mountains of dishes it seemed, tables to put away, garbage to dispose of, silver to count and put away, and such a lot of work that we were nearly dismayed."

One of the interesting features of the banquet, which is not known generally is that the meat for it was cooked in the kitchen of the cathedral. Many thought that it had been cooked in Chicago or cooked enroute in a cooker car. This was not the case, every pound of the ton of meat being cooked in the huge ovens in the cathedral kitchen.

East Brook School Opening Postponed

School Sessions In New Bilding To Be Started On Monday, November 8

County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling said this morning that it will be impossible to open certain school rooms in the new building at East Brook next Monday, as anticipated, but that the rooms will be ready one week from Monday. The work has been finished but it is believed the plaster is not yet dry enough to permit occupancy.

The school board will meet this evening for the purpose of making some arrangements as to the transportation of pupils. There is some difference of opinion as to whether it will be best for the school district to purchase busses and operate them or give the work out by contract.

Father Is Awarded Custody Of Child On Habeas Corpus

After a hearing on a habeas corpus writ at court this morning Judge Hildebrand made an order awarding the custody of Mary Mastranduono, aged about four years, to her father, Mike Mastranduono. When the mother of Mary died, the child was but a few months old. She was taken by Mrs. Jennie Pascella, in whose custody she has been ever since, the father being perfectly willing that his sister should have her. Recently Mike was again married and wanted the child. His sister, Jennie, had become so greatly attached to the little girl that she refused to give her up and habeas corpus proceedings were instituted.

It was shown at the hearing that the father is amply able to take care of the child, and as a parent had first claim on her. There was a heartrending scene in court when the father took the little girl from his sister, who broke down and wept bitterly. There did not appeal to be any ill feeling on the part of Mike toward his sister, whom he said could come and live with him also, if she desired.

Ross Benefit Fund Is Being Boosted

The James Ross benefit fund had increased to $139 this morning, according to the report of Ira M. Ramsey, city treasurer, and treasurer of the fund. It was $112 yesterday including $5 at The News office.

These donations may be made to Ira M. Ramsey at his office in the city building and The News will turn over to him any money left at The News office.

The new donations reported this morning by Mr. Ramsey are W. W. McMillin $2, and David Jameson $25.

Town Talk

Motorists coming into this city this morining report that traffic is badly hampered on the roads because of the dense fog that prevails in all directions. Several accidents have been reported which were caused by the fog.

The Schenley visitors who came today, did not have a hard time finding their way to the Franklin field, as the result of the work of four high school boys, Lenord Smith, Richard Bartley, Dalis Hazen and Clay Aubel, who posted direction cards through town. These boys put over twenty large welcome cards, and many smaller cards directing the way to the Franklin Field.

There are two well known ladies of the city prominet in musical circles, who last night, while costumed as a London Dude and an old fashioned lady street seller, thought they were fooling their many friends as they went through the streets of the city to the masquerade party held at the home of Mrs. W. C. Jenkins of Delaware avenue. Their disguise was penetrated by numbers of people today, who are making life miserable for them.

Organist Recovers From Recent Injury

Mrs. John Evans of Winslow avenue organist at the First M. E. church received a severe gash on her face Thursday when while putting up curtains at her home she fell from a stepladder, will be able to take her expected part in the concert to be presented Sunday evening at that church.

Mrs. Evans is one of he best known musicians of the city and her many friends are glad to know that her mishap was no more serious than it happened to be.

She was formerly organist at the First Christian church and the daughter of Thomas Hopkins a leading tenor soloist of the city who now sings at the Third United Presbyterian church.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

At The Last Minute

This advertisement is written with but a few minutes left before press time, and of necessity must be brief.

Early today the Democratic candidate for the General Assembly, H. L. Marvin placed in the house of this city a letter, in which he states that he is not the candidate of any political clique, nor of any would be dictator.

Apparently he intends to convey the false impression that my candidacy has been backed by some insidious influence or that somebody has a political axe to grind.

In the letter he mentions the fact that he has the qualifications to fill the office. One very necessary qualification for any public office is honesty and I am leaving it to the judgment of the voters of this city if a last minute attempt to destroy a candidate is honest.

Mr. Marvin has declared in public that he did not want the office, that he was too busy to attend to the office if he could get it, and said that my nomination suited him admirably. He reiterated these remarks on several occasions, and no later than Thursday of the present week said that he he did not expect to win, and did not want to make a fight.

This letter is under what purports to be his signature. Why his sudden verring about, and why the necessity of veiled statements? Who does he mean and what does he mean? What prompted this action, and why all the secrecy about it?

I am the Republican candidate for the General Assembly. If you believe in honest dealing, in keeping one's word, and in frank, open treatment of all questions, I ask your vote on Nuesday, November 2.

into the cell where McDermott is allegedly held in solitary confinement and said: "He is the man."

Mrs. Lloyd Mellett, sister-in-law of the slain editor who was in his home on the Monday night before the Friday on which Mellett was slain, identified McDermott as the man who was caught prowling about the Mellett home and was brought into the house where, upon questioning by George Beresford, special policeman, he said he was a building contractor looking for a man who had promised him work.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vail, friends of the Mellett family, who were in their home that night and also on the subsequent Friday night, when he was murdered corroborated Mrs. Lloyd Mellett's identification. The final proof of recognition was offered by George Beresford the special policeman who had gone on duty the night before as a result of a telephone warning received by Mellett that the "Jungle" had marked him for its own.

Beresford completely identified McDermott as the prowler who he had halted and brought into the house for questioning.

NAME GRAFTON AS MANAGER

New Castle Better Business Bureau. He has been connected with various business interests of the city since 1912.

Mr. Grafton's wide experience in both retail and civic organization work makes his selection particularly fitting for this important position.

There has been a growing need in New Castle for an efficient credit organization and this has resulted in the formation of the credit exchange by merchants, business and professional men of the city.

This organization has been organized to promote and foster methods of education on credit methods, practices and policies for the benefit of the general public. It has for its members practically all the leading business interests of the city. It is really just another indication that this city is entering into a new era of community cooperation.

Mr. Grafton will devote his entire time to the management of the Credit Exchange. Offices will be maintained in the Greer building.

Mrs. St. John wants the girl restored to her care. She said she had not seen Dorothy for a year and a half.

Browning is amazed and perplexed by this new move, which he said he would fight.

Thirty Boys Are Before Mayor

Approximately thirty boys and young men, from all parts of the city were in conference with the mayor this morning relative to Hallowe'en pranks in which they participated in all sections of the city in the last few nights.

The listed depredations by the boys included stoning front doors, throwing tomatoes at automobiles and other things of like nature. The mayor gave the boys a talk, trying to give them an insight into present day conditions, which make such pranks out of order today. The boys all promised to refrain from such actions for the balance of the present Hallowe'en season.

In the rooter section of the visitors are many of the school alumni, men who have graduated long since but who still retain their affection for their high school. The game was scheduled to start at 2:30.

A coincidence is seen in that both teams fight under the same colors, red and black. Because of this, Coach Gross of Schenley borrowed different colored jerseys for this afternoon's game, as confusion might result with both teams in the same colored uniforms.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

May I Count On You?

Once again we are at the close of a political campaign. This one has been marked by less excitement, less interest than many previous ones, and it began to appear as though the campaign for General Assembly would be devoid of any of the unpleasant features which sometimes creep in.

Unfortunately this is not entirely true. In the past few days, some scattered attempts have been made to instill into the minds of voters, a suspicion that there was something wrong with the campaign for Richards, that certain "influences" were being brought to bear to secure his election.

I want to assure you that there have been influences at work, and those influences are the loyalty and sincerity of a host of friends. Friends who have been at my side, friends who have been willing to sacrifice their time in my behalf, friends whose devotion I can never hope to repay. I glory in those wonderful friendships, and if this be a crime, to be blessed with such friends, then I stand convicted.

There is no defense against a whispering campaign. There can be none, for honest men and women do not know how to conduct or defend against one.

Since I was a six year old lad, I have lived in New Castle. In those twenty seven years I have tried to live and conduct myself in such a manner that honest, upright men and women would call me friend.

They have done so, and in the primary campaign their kindly interest towards me, secured me the Republican nomination for the General Assembly. The General Election is on Tuesday, November 2.

Because I have a living to make, it has been impossible for me to see everyone personally. Will you not consider this as the personal call of a candidate who wants nothing more than to serve in an honest, efficient manner, the city he is proud to call home?

May I count on you?

ARE YOU SATISFIED WITH YOUR PART?

NEW CASTLE COMMUNITY CHEST workers in the present campaign are making their eleventh hour canvass of the city in an effort to secure pledges and subscriptions of of sufficient size to put the campaign over the goal set, when the final meeting is held on Monday.

These three hundred volunteers have been doing valiant work during the past two weeks in an effort to render this service to the community. They have worked hard. In many instances they have been given a fine reception and the response has been excellent. In other cases, (and there are many of them) there has been a blank refusal to aid.

To these latter, we would like to address this lone question: "Whose responsibility is the matter of maintaining these charity, or semi-charitable institutions?" Mine? Yours? Or all of us collectively?

Have you dodged your share of this community responsibility?

There is time enough yet to get right on the matter, if you have been shirking.

Better think it over, and do your share!

YOUNGER WOMEN IN THE PRESENT ERA

AN authority on hygiene and physical development is author of the statement that women are younger today at forty than ever and, at all ages, are healthier than the women of preceding generations.

A generation ago the average woman of forty was an old lady who wore a shawl across her shoulders while she sat by the fire and crocheted. Se was well past the prime of life and "all tired out."

Today the woman of forty looks thirty, plays golf and tennis and drives an automobile during the day and dances or plays cards at night, and then is down first to breakfast in the morning fresh and ready for another day which would have been a killing pace in grandmother's day.

One of the causes of this extraordinary healthfulness of the modern woman is the development of her clothing. She no longer wrap herself up like an Egyptian mummy or loads herself down with pounds of heavy and superfluous raiment.

But hasn't woman's attitude toward herself contributed much to her transformation? Though a mother of numerous children she can now dance, swim, go in for the sports and driving, and dress youthfully without fear of social ostracism. No longer is the "respectable" woman's condition in life just two degrees removed from the absolute imprisonment of the harem.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

I go to the annual meeting,
For it's always a happy event
To hear the boys calmly repeating
How every last dollar was spent.
But I thrill with a thrill that surprises
And instantly start to pay heed
When the keeper of records arises
The previous minutes to read.

I fancy at times I'm not needed,
As I sit undisturbed in my chair
While the officers tell us what "we did,"
And I wonder just why I am there.
Then comes a great thought and it's this'n,"
My job, though it's one that I dread,
Is to patiently sit there and listen
While the previous minutes are read.

I'm not one who craves for attention,
Nor one who publicity courts,
I go not to start a dissension
But merely to hear the reports.
And at last when the meeting is ended
If you ask what was done and was said,
As the wife does, I'll say I attended
And the previous minutes were read.

GIRLS SMARTEST UP TO 25

The reason the girls lead the boys in school has been rediscovered at the University of Arizona. With the university's general average of intelligence rated at 1.66 per cent, the women score 1.96, the men 1.50. Women are more intelligent than the men until 25, explains Prof. Alva Neil, university registrar. He adds women mature more rapidly, but when men become developed completely they benefit by the increased preparation of their longer youth or adolescence, whereby men as adults know more. A 14-year-old high school girl, the professor points out, is the mental equal of a boy of 16. And high school and college girls usually show more aptitude for study than high school and college boys; after that the boys have the best of it. Interesting, but not convincing to one woman, who says women just naturally are brighter, always have been, and always will be, and, believe us, that settles it.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:59. Sun rises tomorrow 6:28.

It has been a mighty hard job to keep this column up during the past several days. If it has been worse than usual it is because there has been too much excitement and worry.

Three girls were expelled from the University of Illinois because they remained out until 2:30 in the morning. The three young men who were with them were also fired. We are glad there was no discrimination.

A real estate dealer jumped from a Riverside drive viaduct in New York and killed himself of course. We wonder what could have been worrying a real estate dealer to do such a thing as that. They are usually such optimistic and lively chaps—and often terrible liars also.

We know of a bird who is taking up hunting for his health. Before this season the only thing he ever shot was a cigar stub across the living room at the grate.

Men think they despise the chap who is a wow with the ladies, but they merely envy him.

Lightning may not strike in the same place twice, but we have known prohibition officers to strike in the same place three or four times and hit something each time.

Halos ain't been in style since politics became so popular.

We have noticed that the chaps who either give very little or nothing at all are the ones who do the most criticising of the projects that come up from time to time. Conversation, especially rough conversation don't get any one anything and it don't do the city anything but a lot of harm.

Next Monday had been designated as the official Hallowe'en. Those pirates who have been doing their dirty work for weeks past in the name of fun should take notice of the official date. This Hallowe'en rot is going to get a lot of half grown degenerates into a lot of trouble some day.

The president of Yale college says emphatically that education should give independence. There is a possibility that is true, but just going to a university will not give it. There are a lot of things that come from colleges that don't like education or independence.

If we ever get bitten by a squirrel we will not say a word about it. Squirrels are death in biting nuts this time of the year.

The actor who is the idol of the women folks is never very popular with the men folks.

We have noticed that several judges has liberated persons charged with violating the liquor laws because the officers have arrested them without warrants. Of course there are people who will say those judges are not rabid prohibitionists.

Life is a compromise between what we want and what we get.

William Whie, editor and author of Kanasas, says if Roosevelt could be let down from the battlements of heaven in a parachute and would begin to say the things he said twenty years ago, he would shock, astound and paralyze the American people. If that could happen we would like to be around and see what he would do to a certain person in Pennsylvania who is always quoting him. This person will not be in office after January 15 of the coming year and it will be a good thing for the state and it will take a long time before a worse boss and selfish office holder is elected again.

Henry Ford made the first speech of his life a few days ago and it contained only forty-nine words. We are betting it was a good speech. The shorter a speach is the better it is as a rule.

A moonshine still that made three thousand gallons of "finished" likker a day was captured in New Jersey. That, with the assistance of the ships coming from sea could keep Atlantic City going at least in the day time, especially after the bathing hour.

Once in a great while even now one sees a young woman in the back yard or before a fire, drying her long and beautiful tresses while she reads The News or some other high class literature.

Youngstown National Radiator

Youngstown — Youngstown National Radiator Co. is enlarging its Newcastle plant and has awarded the contracts for new buildings. The foundry is being increased and new buildings erected, 190 by 800 feet. The company will hereafter produce radiators at this plant. Heretofore the output has been limited to boilers.

The above item appeared in the Wall Street Journal of October 15 under a Youngstown date line and the presumption is that it was sent out by some one from Wickedville. There is no Youngstown Radiator Co. We doubt if there is a stockholder in the National Radiator Co. in that place. The big plant of the National Radiator Co., is in New Castle and that is where it is being enlarged. This item is certainly deceiving and misrepresents the case. We will be satisfied if Youngstown confines itself to the truth.

Roumania seems to be having as much fuss without her queen as the United States with her. Some from over there want her back and have even gone so far as to say that the King is at the point of death. Perhaps when the queen gets home she will find as the wife usually does when she returns from a visit to mother's that the old man had a better time than she thought he would. That Roumanian king is probably having a good time too.

The local auto club asks motorists to be reasonable in the use of the horn. We say "Amen" to that. The horns can be saved a great deal when the motorists in the tail end of the line keep honking away when the leaders are waiting for the signal lights to change.

Three hundred million dollars was spent in advertising last year and the retail business amounted to billions. It takes advertising to sell goods these days and it will do it when all other means fail. Advertising has taken and made bath salts the third biggest seller in the cosmetic line in the course of three years' time. And pretty soon all the retailers will be advertising ones, for last year of the failures in the country 85 per cent were non advertisers. About two more years and the non-advertising retailers will be as scarce as Christmas trees on the Fourth of July.

London scientists have come to the definite conclusion that Mars is too far away to be communicated with by the inhabitants of the earth. The learned men of science are just finding out now what the poor and ignorant has known for some time. Scientists waste a lot of time and get a lot of publicity on trying to fathom things that were not meant to be fathomed and finally they come back to earth. Mars will hold communication with the earth just about as soon as the mystery of the formation of the earth and the creation of the human race is solved. There is but one solution and the God who made the universe is not telling any more than he has.

Let's see; who was this man Wills?

For killing three birds more than the limit three men were fined $102.50 each. But as yet we haven't heard of any great outcry against the severity of the law. That only comes when a man is arrested for selling or peddling booze.

FRIEND FRED:—

If your wonderful blowout did no other good, it surely made me feel ashamed that I was not a member. I found at my plate a card to fill out which I started to do, but when I came to the blank spaces for the most important project for the Chamber of Commerce, I concluded it would be easier to write a check for a membership than to figure out anything that is more important. I hope that you will find hundreds of others that will share in my idea. Very truly yours, one of the Birds you say you know in Mahoningtown.

The brothers of Pat McDermott who turned him up for the officers have offered the reward in the case, which is rightly theirs, to Mrs. Mellett the widow of the man who was killed. Those men have done two decent acts so far in this case and recognition of them ought to be made.

The baggage smashers of the country ought to be real happy when they read that Queen Marie has fifty trunks that she is taking with her on tour.

A distinguished citizen of Detroit has resigned from his church because "there is too much P. T. Barnum stuff" in the church today. "The ministers", he says, "want to get into the papers. "Woe to the Nation that puts 'Yes, We Have No Bananas' above the psalms of David."

Another very good endurance test consists of the neighbor's children.

The Prince of Wales has originated a special out for dress suits and all those in favor of it go and get a new dress suit at once.

This is the slippery season of the year for autoists. With the rain and frosts and the leaves on the highways and roads a driver has to use more than ordinary caution. Some drivers are not safe in dry weather and how they get through the dangerous times only Providence can answer.

Beauty experts claim that the modern faces are far too lopsided to be pretty. We hadn't noticed that in faces in particular, but we have seen the lopsided walk of many women and agree that it isn't an element of beauty.

The President's Talk.
Squaws and Perfume.
Old Kansas City.
Our Earth's Baby.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1926, by N. Y. American, Inc.

President Coolidge talked hard, common sense, as usual, at the Advertising men's dinner. Advertising products increased sales. Gigantic sales make possible mass production. That, in turn, makes possible low prices.

Big business, giant corporations, says the President, are things not to be feared, but to be controlled and made useful to the people. Successful advertising, big production and big buying make high wages possible. They, in turn, are necessary to continued prosperity.

* * *

Not a few big men, but millions of average citizens, spend and enjoy the results of prosperity. This, says the President, is proved by ownership and upkeep of 20,000,000 automobiles. Gigantic production, high wages, small profits, America her own best customer. That is the President's program, and a good one.

* * *

The President's speech would have been complete had he added this procise, "I propose to build for the protection of the United States such a fleet of fighting airplanes and submarines as will make this country forever safe from attack."

The President complains of public indifference at this election. There wouldn't be any public indifference if candidates on the Republican side were saying to their crowds, "Europe hates us. If you return our men to congress we pledge ourselves to build for this nation such a battle fleet in the air as will make the whole world fear us even more than it hates us."

At Lawrence, Kan., 5,000 delegates from many tribes of Indians are assembling for a dramatization of "Hiawatha," at the Haskell stadium. Blackfeet Indians, arriving first, seem to have longed for refinement ever since they were named for the heavy black mud on their feet.

The first thing the Blackfeet squaws did was "to clean out the Lawrence drug stores," buying up every bottle of perfumery, especially the kind that cost $27.50 for a small bottle. Poor Lo is richer than he was.

Kansas City will dedicate on Armistice day a beautiful liberty memorial, as a striking peace gesture, and one earnest citizen, to help along the gesture, sends his check to a powder plant for a good supply of powder. On the morning of the peace gesture he will blow off that powder with a loud bang.

While astronomers study Mars with telescopes, radio listeners wait eagerly for some message from the planet, only a little more than 40,000,000 miles from this earth. They were disappointed—heard nothing.

A few million or few hundred million miles in space make as little difference as a few individual miles on this earth.

If there is a way of sending messages through the "imponderable ether" they probably would come from the nearest fixed star, as easily as from the moon.

Feeble rays used in our radios are probably not used in interplanetary and intersolar communications doubtless going on now among old planets. Ours is a baby planet, and the older planets are probably not bothering about it, just as we do not attempt to talk to a new-born baby. Nothing that old planets have to say would be understood by us, if they said it.

TO MAKE LIFE WORTH WHILE—

One must find a work which he can relish.
We must love some one soul with all our heart.
I must find God's plan for me.
I must make each day a great day by doing my best.
Every man must think life is worth while for him.
We must keep on alert interest in everything about us.
We must not allow tomorrow to be obscured by today.

In Day's News

Emma Goldman, who seeks permission to return to the United States, was deported during the war for conspiring to prevent the operation of the Selective Service Act. For many years she had been known as the most prominent woman anarchist and foe of the established order resident in the United States, and her affiliations with the cult of lawlessness in Europe have been close for several decades. She frequently incurred arrest and imprisonment, but never had long sentences; and when released she invariably returned to her propaganda work. Miss Goldman is of Russian Jewish origin and grew up in a town in East Prussia. She arrived in the United States in 1886, and settled in Rochester, N. Y., where she was married. She first won national prominence by her conduct and words at the time of the Haymarket riots in Chicago.

THE WEST

It has been the fashion among dramatists and novelists to dip into the past as well as to reach forward to the future. Indeed, while there have been a few men like Wells and Bellamy, who have sketched the possibilities of the future, the greater number of them have gone into the past for their material.

When Wagner composed his operas he went back to the Nibelungenlied and the primitive records of Teutonic exploits.

Homer in his day reached into the past of Hellenic history or tradition.

America's West is already fast vanishing. It is colorful and interesting. It contains a type of life that is peculiar only to this country.

It particularly appeals to us all because of its adventurous spirit.

The Western plays are ideal from the movie fan's standpoint. They contain interest of the most pure and undiluted kind. They are adventurous but clean. There is no tragedy nor sex appeal in them. There is none of the complication of our modern artificial life, but the direct and clean appeal to our love of adventure, that love which all of us feel, no matter how sedentary our occupations.

From the movie fan's standpoint the Western films are ideal. They supply exactly that thing that one goes to the movies for—excitement, amusement and interest. They leave no tang of regret in the mind after they have finished. There is never anything but the pure enjoyment of action.

Perhaps the life of the old-time West is best adapted to give us what we want. Those men were simple and direct. Their justice was swift and their emotions were close to the surface.

Recently I attended a Bill Hart film. The house was full and the street in front of the house was full. The audience was manifestly delighted with the representation.

American films, they say, are overrunning the world, and of all films that we produce the Western are the most American.

The pony express was commonplace enough in its time, but now it is picturesque. The time may come when people will look back on railroad trains as being picturesque figures.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THIS IS TELLING 'EM.

Before the Age of the Automobile, it was very difficult to persuade the Fathers of any City to pave even the most important business streets of a city. It was also quite hard to get the Boards of the City Schools to build anything like adequate school houses. The coming of the Automobile has changed all this. Some people say it is Prohibition but the the City Governments of this country, to say nothing of the State Governments, or the Federal Government, itself, are intent upon a tremendous plan for spending the great wealth of the Nation in the making of public improvements of all kinds. No doubt there is a great deal of money wasted. Probably there is considerable graft, but the money for these improvements comes easy, by way of bond issues, and by way of taxation. It seems absolutely necessary for people to live up to the Automobile.

The Bureau of the Census of the Department of Commerce in its 1925 summary of the financial transactions of two hundred and forty seven cities each having a population of more than thirty thousand, shows that a total of nearly three billion dollars was spent by these municipalities in 1925, for the operation, maintenance, payment of interest of the general debt, and for the permanent improvement of these cities. One and one half billion dollars was spent by the cities for the operation and maintenance of the city Government itself, while the balance was spent in the payment of the interest upon the city debt, and for the operation of Public Service Corporations, and for permanent improvements. These cities had at the end of the year 1925, outstanding four and a half billion dollars worth of bonds.

The report is interesting in other ways. It goes on to say that only two of these cities failed to raise enough revenue to meet these obligations, and only forty four of them had any surplus left out of revenue raised, with which to pay debts. The total revenue from taxes in the cities amounted to two and a half billion. The cities were a half billion short; and only seventy nine of the cities reduced their bonded indebtedness in any sum.

Heading the Honor List is the city of Washington in the District of Columbia—the Nation's capital. It has no debt, whatever, but pays as it goes.

Atlantic City, New Jersey is the most deeply in debt per capita, as its per capita debt amounts to $277.00.

Norristown, Pennsylvania, was the easiest on its residents by way of taxation, for anly the sum of $22.00 per capita was taken from the cities of Norristown by the city Government. Pasadena, California, however, levied a tax averaging $143.00 per capita.

The assessed valuation of the property of these two hundred forty seven cities according to the assessment rolls, was sixty three billion dollars. That is a lot money. It is worth while noticing how the cities paid out their money. Of the total municipal payments, 52.4 per cent was for operation and maintenance of general departments; 5.1 per cent, operation and maintenance of Public Service enterprises; 9.1 per cent interest on debt; 33.4 per cent. for permanent improvement.

Of the payment for maintenance and operation of general departments 38.8 per cent was for education. 20 per cent protection to person and property. 8.7 per cent for highways. 8.5 per cent, general government. 7.6 per cent sanitation and promotion of cleanliness. 5.9 per cent charities, hospitals, and places of correction. 3.3 per cent recreation. 2.4 per cent conservation of health, and 4.8 per cent for miscellaneous expenditures.

The Free Cities of Medieval Europe were Governments in themselves. The two hundred forty seven cities of the United States are spending money more extravagantly than the inhabitants of any Free Cities, but they could not furnish the provender. It is the humble farmer who holds the key to all prosperity.

The various Bureaus of the Federal Government have a habit, rather disconcerting to the politicians, of telling tales out of school.

Short Story.

Chap. I. Dad is sitting in his study writing letters when his little son enters with a thoughtful expression on his face. "May I have your big dictionary for a short time?" asks little Tommy. "Of course you can, my boy," replied Dad, his face beaming with fatherly pride; "glad to see your thoughts are turning to higher things."

Chap. II. (Two hours later). Tommy's mother (to herself): "More of that jam gone. I can't think how that boy can reach it!"

By all means take the farm problem out of politics. Then it will be forgotten, like the tariff and prohibition.

POEMS I LOVE — BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

"In A Restaurate," By Wilfrid Wilson Gibson.

This English poet wrote, during the war, many fine pieces. He has an aching sympathy for the poor and the down-trodden; for all those who must do the difficult drudgery of this world in mean places. In his splendid first volumes, notably in "Daily Bread," he delved deep, and proved his abiding pity for the toilers and the plodders. In this tiny picture we literally see the sad little clerk at his meal. I am particularly fond of this sort of thing, done well and too seldom.

He wears a red rose in his button-hole,
A city-clerk on Sunday, dining out:
And as the music surges over the din
The heady quavering of the violin
Sings through his blood, and puts old cares to rout,
And tingles, quickening, through his shrunken soul,
Till he forgets his ledgers, and the prim
Black, crabbed figures, and the qualmy smell
Of ink and musty leather and dad glaze
As, in eternities of Summer days,
He drives through shivering waves, or rides the swell
On rose-red seas of melody aswim.

Dr. Quick Travels Fourteen Months In Doing Research Work

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 30.—Dr. B. E. Quick, head of the biology department of Westminster College, believes in a more interesting form of research than delving into the musty pages of ancient books. Dr. Quick is now engaged in the actual duties of his position after a year's leave of absence spent in extensive travel and research.

He spent last winter in Porto Rico in company with Dr. H. A. Gleason of the New York Botanical Gardens and Robert Haggelstein of Long Island, an expert in the study of diatomes and slime molds. Mr. Haggelstein has presented Dr. Quick several very beautiful specimens of slime mold. The name does not sound attractive, but many of the molds have beautiful colors. Dr. Quick went around the world on a similar expedition with Dr. Gleason in 1913.

Dr. Quick's main object was the collecting of flowering plants and ferns, of which he has about 500 specimens. He also made some study of plants and marine animals. Lizards, tarantulas, scorpions and other animals are not as interesting nor are they as plentiful in Porto Rico as he had been led to believe, according to Dr. Quick.

The people of the island have a peculiar cycle of usefulness for insects. Dr. Quick tells of one incident of an enormous spider which he discovered in his room and attempted to kill with a broom. The people of the house protested because the spiders killed the cockroaches. He asked why they didn't get rid of the cockroaches and was told that they ate bed bugs. He did not inquire further into the use of the last mentioned. He saw only one spider and no tarantulas or scorpions.

He also made some interesting studies of the zonation of life on the light buoys in the harbor at San Juan. All kinds of marine animals and plants were found—barnacles of different kinds and seaweeds. He found some very peculiar things. On a walk through an island that was almost desert—all sand, stone and cactus—he heard a peculiar squeaking which seemed to come from a hollow tree. Investigation proved it to be caused by at least 50 hermit crabs which must have crawled the half or three-quarters of a mile from the shore and taken refuge in the tree.

These crabs appropriate the shell of some other animal and curl up in it. They have a pair of claws so modified that they can put them together and completely close up the crack in the shell. This is for protection. How so many of these water animals found their way to so dry a place so far from the water was a mystery to the members of Dr. Quick's party.

During the summer months, after his return from Porto Rico, Dr. Quick, accompanied by Maurice Anderson of New Wimington, a graduate of Westminster College with the class of 1925, and now a student at the U. P. Theological Seminary, Pittsburgh, drove through the western part of the United States studying the plant and animal life and sightseeing. They went west by the southern route and saw first the Grand Canyon of Arizona. They went north from there through Arizona and New Mexico, where they visited Indian Pueblo towns and also a settlement of cliff dwellers, at which place they saw a performance of the rain dance. Incidentally, rain fell.

They visited Sequoia National Park and Yosemite. Lake Tahoe, 2,000 feet above most of its surroundings and 7,000 feet above sea level, was one of their interesting stops. Many of these places were more interesting as geological phenomena than for biological contributions.

Their last stop of real interest was Yellowstone National Park. They spent several days among the geysers, hot springs and terraces and the beautiful Grand Canyon and falls of the Yellowstone. They returned by way of the northern route, through South Dakota and Minnesota.

Dr. Quick returned to New Wilmington about September 10 after more than 14 months of travel, which he states to be one of the most educational courses he has ever taken.

Rev. S. R. Maitland Home From Visit To Taylor University

Rev. S. R. Maitland, pastor of Greenwood Methodist Episcopal church, has just returned from Uplands, Indiana, where he was visiting Taylor University, of which he is the financial agent. He reports that the college is in a most flourishing condition this year, and has a record enrollment of students.

ABE MARTIN — On the Independent Voter

AN INDEPENDENT VOTER

An independent voter is a feller that stands on th' curb instead o' follerin' th' crowd, a sort of a cross between a clean-shaven Democrat an' a Republican that don't want somethin'. He votes on his way downtown, if he votes at all, or if th' line hain't too long, an' goes t' bed at th' usual hour on election night. Ther' is no way t' distinguish an independent voter. He's liable t' be a banker, or a mechanic, possibly a farmer, or maybe a business man, an' jest as likely as not th' owner of a duplex. Independent voters usually keep it t' 'emselves. They don't argue about trimmin' th' tariff down, th' world court, curtailment o' th' navy, or light wine an' beer. Even his barber can't find out how an independent voter feels about th' political issues o' th' day. Sometimes an independent voter 'll shake hands with a candidate when ther's no way out o' it, its claimed that ther's been instances where th' independent voter has actually promised t' support some candidate, but that's largely hearsay, as no specific cases t' substantiate such a claim have ever been recorded. I don't believe a regulation independent voter would involve himself by acceptin' a campaign cigar. Sometimes an independent voter plays a trombone, or somethin' an' has t' parade, an' even listen t' speeches about tax reduction, but I know o' no instance where his better judgment has ever been influenced by political oratory or campaign quarters. Th' independent voter wears no lapel buttons, an' holds no party's Roman candles. He's what might be called an "onlooker at Vienna," or Indynoplus, or Pittsburgh, or any town or city. But he's with us, an' his numbers are growin' greater an' greater ever' day. Some of us kin still recall when a feller wuz either a Democrat or a Republican regardless o' what wuz involved. Ther' wuz no neutral ground short o' th' moon. If a feller wuz able t' walk he carried a leaky torch for one party or th' other. Fer a long spell both th' ole parties wuz as close reefed as a new $1 umbreller. Then come th' Greenback uprisin', an' later th' Populist flurry. But party lines didn't really begin t' break till th' memorable Cleveland-Blaine campaign in 1884. That's when th' great stalwart army o' independents took th' field, an' since them days ther's been considerable migratin' from one party t' another, an' slogans instead o' issues have been employed t' attract th' unwary voter. T'day there's a strikin' similarity between th' two parties. Perhaps one o' them may have a shade th' best of it when it comes t' clothes an' money, but ther' seems t' be very little else between 'em 'cept th' offices. Right now ther's some talk o' revivin th' tariff as an issue with th' hope o' gittin' th' voters aroused an straightened out. But I don't believe th' tariff kin come back, unless our great party leaders kin find a way t' tie it up with light wine an' beer.

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 30.—A week's program of dedicatory service started Thursday evening at Stoneboro when the First Presbyterian church of that place was thrown open to the members at the congregational dinner served.

The church, just completed of native sandstone with a seating capacity of 400 and built at a cost of $56,000, is the second church home of this congregation organized in 1883. The first church was destroyed by fire on Thanksgiving Day, 1923. A financial campaign takes place at the time of this dedication. The congregation desires to raise the sum of $7,000 during this period of time. Annual Eastern Star Church Service Sunday Evening

Rev. P. C. Pearson To Preach Sermon

Organization To Attend Service In Body At Trinity Church

SPECIAL MUSIC ALSO ARRANGED

REV. PHILIP C. PEARSON

Members of New Castle Chapter, No. 165 and Shenango Chapter, No. 333, Order of the Eastern Star of this city will have their annual services Sunday evening in Trinity Episcopal church, at the corner of North Mill and East Falls streets.

Friends and relatives of members of the Order will attend. The evening, being the Eve of All Saints, one of the most loved days of the Christian Year will be observed by an appropriate service in connection with the program of the organization.

The rector, The Rev. Philip C. Pearson, who has been obligated to the Eastern Star and has visited chapters as a special speaker in the New Jersey jurisdiction will preach a sermon appropriate to the season of All Saints and to a great and noble organization of Christian Women. Because of the sympathetic interest of Mr. Pearson in the Eastern Star and the loyalty of New Castle members to their Order it is believed that many of the eight hundred members of the two chapters will be present.

Pews in the front part of the nave will be reserved for the guests of the evening, who will assemble in the Guild room below at 7:15 and march into the church in a body at 7:30.

The musical program to be presented by the choir under the leadership of Prof. Paul Browne Patterson will be as follows:

Prelude, "Andante," — Tschaikowski.

Processional, hymn 295, "For all the Saints"—Joseph Barnby.

Nunc dimittis in B flat—C. V. Stanford.

Hymn, 19 (sung kneeling)—"Softly now the light of day"—C. M. von Weber.

Hymn 222, (before the sermon) —"Nearer, my God, to Thee," Lowell Mason.

Anthen, "What are these that are arrayed in white robes,"—Sir John Stainer.

Recessional, hymn 85, "The Son of God Goes Forth to War"—H. S. Cutler.

Postlude, "Pilgrims Chorus" — Wagner.

Motor Federation Film To Be Displayed To School Children Here

Through the agency of Harvey M. Milford of the New Castle public schools the school children of the Ben Franklin Junior high school and the public in general during the week of November 4 will have an opportunity to see the Motor Federation's film "Pennsylvania." The picture will be shown from the fourth to the twelfth inclusive leaving out Saturday and Sunday. For the parents of the students the picture will be shown on Wednesday evening November 10.

H. N. Hanlon manager of the New Castle Motor club has greatly interested himself in this exhibition and expects it to be a great success.

All of the scenic splendor of the state of Pennsylvania is shown in six reels. Harshaw of the trustee board of the First Presbyterian church of Grove City who in conjunction with a building committee of the church have just completed a building program of a new edifice that cost $400,000 completed and furnished reports the church finances in excellent condition to pay off the debt that has been accumulated.

Of the bond issue of $200,000 authorized by the congregation which is incorported under Pennsylvania laws the sum of $170,000 in bonds have already been sold with very little trouble and no advertising at all. The major portion of them were bought by Grove City people. The remainder could easily be sold but are being held off the market for the time being until it is determined what exact amount of money will be needed with the pledge payments coming in. The bonds cover a five year period. It is said that with the pledges paid the church will have a debt of $100,000 to pay. The pledges are also scheduled to cover a five year period and are about half paid.

THE FALL OF JERICHO

Joshua 6: 12-20

Golden text: "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith." (I John 5:4).

Following the miraculous crossing of the river Jordan, Israel was confronted with the strong and well fortified city of Jericho. No progress could be made until this city was conquered. From a human standpoint Israel had no possible chance to break down the great walls of the city, which were covered with well armed soldiers. Just so the Christian warrior is confronted by apparently impossible obstacles and unconquerable foes. To rely upon the flesh at such times always proves disastrous. Faith alone will get us the victory, not faith in ourselves but faith in our omnipotent Leader.

I. OBJECT OF FAITH (vs. 12-13).

Faith in itself is not a virtue. It is only a worthy object which gives value to faith. The most conspicuous and important thing in the strange procession which encircled the city was the ark of the covenant. This most sacred of all the tabernacle vessels, symbolized the presence of Jehovah (Ex. 25:22), especially as God is revealed in Jesus Christ. The most humble believer in this day has an even greater privilege than the Hebrews had with the ark to behold. In facing the great battles of life, the risen and glorified Christ is the supreme and all-conquering object of our faith (Heb. 12 1-2). and His abiding presence is the pledge of victory (Mat. 28: 20; Phil. 4:13).

II. OBEDIENCE OF FAITH (vs. 13-15).

The reality of faith is demonstrated by the tests to which it is subjected. We can imagine the possible objections which the general board of strategy of the Israelitish army might have raised to the strange command to parade around the city for six days in perfect silence. Did not they come into the land to conquer it? Why then must spend valuable time in an apparently aimless march around the city? Such would have been the reasonings of the flesh. Israel was not equipped with battering rams or other engines of ancient warfare. There was no assurance of victory save the word of God (vs. 2); yet to the man of faith nothing is more assuring than the promise of the God of truth.

For once Israel obeyed to the very letter of God's command. Note the orderly procedure, the organization of the procession, the pre-eminent position of the priests, and the specific directions concerning the number of times the city was to be encircled, as well as the exact time when the trumpets were to be blown and the shout made. There may have been some who scoffed at such a method of taking a city. Doubtless the defenders hurled many taunts and jeers at the silent marchers. But however foolish it may appear, God's plan insures victory.

It is very hard for many in the church today to understand that God has appointed spiritual methods for the gaining of spiritual victories. The great tendency is to employ carnal, worldly methods in the doing of God's work. To do so is to give the flesh an occasion for boasting, to detract from the glory of God and to prevent victory. It is no easy matter to "fight the good fight of faith" (I Tim. 6:12), by employing the divinely appointed weapons (II Cor. 10:4; Eph. 6: 10-12; I Cor. 1:26-29).

III. SALVATION BY FAITH (vs. 17).

One household was saved in the complete destruction of the city of Jericho. In that doomed city there was one woman of faith, Rahab, the harlot. She had believed the word of the spies concerning the coming judgment upon the city, she offered them a refuge in her home, she displayed the scarlet cord in her windows as the spies had told her to do, and she and her household were exempt from judgment. What a wonderful illustration is this of those who, though living in a condemned world, believe the Word of God (John 5:24), put their faith in the atoning blood of Jesus Christ (Rom. 3:25), and are saved from the condemnation of sin. Rahab had no merit of her own; in fact, she was a greater sinner, meriting the just punishment of God. She was saved by grace alone, which excluded all boasting on her part. This scarlet woman became an ancestress of Jesus Christ, according to the flesh. There is hope for the vilest sinner.

IV. SEPARATION OF FAITH (vs. 17-19).

As the flesh has no part in the victories of faith, neither can it have a part in the spoils of victory. God gave the city of Jericho into the hands of Israel, and God claimed as His own everything within the city, to be done with as He directed. All the inhabitants except Rahab's household were to be destroyed. Likewise none of the property was to be spared except certain vessels which were to be devoted to the treasury of the Lord. Especial warnings were given lest any Israelite should covet the possessions of the accursed city. How many servants of God become powerless and bring defeat to the church because they covet and take the forbidden things of this world. The Christian life must be a separated life. Faith is willing to trust God for all and has rewards infinitely greater than the "Babylonish garments" of worldly lusts and ambitions (7:21).

V. TRIUMPH OF FAITH (vs. 16, 20).

Complete obedience to the command of God resulted in the miraculous destruction of the walls of Jericho and a perfect triumph over its defenders. Israel's faith was a working faith. The people all marched, the trumpets were blown at the proper moment and all the people shouted with a great shout. It was not the march or the trumpets or the shout which overthrew the walls, but the hand of God. But the blast of the trumpets and the shout of the people expressed their appropriation of God's promise to deliver the city into their hands (Heb. 11:30). The trumpets are a symbol of the Gospel, which is the power of God unto the salvation of the strongholds of men's souls. Let us blow the trumpet, and by faith trust God for the victory.

Need Volunteers To Aid Farmers

Farmers Making Frantic Efforts To Get Potato Crop Dug In Wet Weather

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 30.—Town residents in Mercer County desiring to render assistance to their farmer friends and neighbors in harvesting their fall crops will find their proferred assistance welcomed by any farmer in the county. The suggestion that town folks come to the assistance of rural folks at this time in saving the potato and fall grain crops is that of County Commissioner F. P. Miner, himself a "Dirt" farmer and knowing of the need. So few are the days that rain does not fall that the getting in of these crops has become a question with the growers.

"Just go out any road from your town and you will find farmers working frantically in their fields who need your assistance," is the word issued today by Farm Agent W. S. Hagar for those who desire to assist. Unless some assistance is rendered of this nature there are thousands of bushels of county "Spuds" that will be lost.

If you put poison in a man to kill him, that's a crime. If you put it in you and then kill him, that's poor driving.

AGNOSTICISM! INFIDELITY! INDIFFERENCE!

Exist because the Bible is not properly divided.

THERE ARE THREE DISPENSATIONS IN THE BIBLE

We Live Under One—Not Three! WHICH ONE?

THE PATRIARCHAL: A family covenant with Abraham (Gen. 12: 2, 3).
THE MOSAIC: A covenant with a nation. Jews only. A Temporary dispensation between Abraham and Christ. (Gal. 3: 16-19).
THE CHRISTIAN: A new covenant (Jer. 31: 31). Beginning with the cross and dealing with the church.

The Bible Contains the Old and New Testaments

THE OLD TESTAMENT:
It contains the promise and law of the Patriarchal and Mosaic despensations.
It contains more than 300 prophesies concerning Christ and His coming.
It contains the history of preparation by the families and the Jewish nation for the coming of Christ.
It held the position of Schoolmaster introducing the Plans, purpose and pretentions of Christ. (Gal. 3:34.).

THE NEW TESTAMENT:
It contains the history of Christ as He lived under the law, and fulfilled the law, and nailed it to the Cross. (Col. 2:14).
It proclaims Christ's authority above Moses or any of the Prophets (Matt. 28: 18).
It announces Christ's delegation of that authority to the Apostles. (Matt. 16: 19).
It answers the question, "What must we do to be saved?" (Acts 2:38).
It announces the name of the church and its fundamental proposition. (Matt. 16: 16).
It announces the business of the church. (Matt. 28: 19).

In Reading the Bible Ask Three Questions: Who is speaking? To whom is it spoken? Under what dispensation is it spoken?

SUPPORT THE TICKET

Next Tuesday you will go to the polling booth, there to register your choice for United States Senator, Governor and other offices.

Support the candidates of the Republican party. Supposing one or two of them are not the men you voted for in the Spring? What though there was a bitter battle in the primary. It was a fight inside the party and the duty of every Republican now is to support the choice of his party.

For months, enemies of the party have been hurling invective at it, hoping to confuse voters. There has been no stampede. Pennsylvania men and women are still capable of evaluating things for themselves.

They know that this cry of the opposition is not so much an attempt to do good as it is to get back into power, and the usual cry of the "outs" is "corruption."

Go to the ballot box on November 2 and vote for the party that has stood for the things most essential to Pennsylvania.

Vote a straight Republican ticket.

The nominees of the party are:

For United States Senator, William S. Vare.

For Governor, John S. Fisher.

For Lieutenant Governor, Arthur H. James.

For Secretary of Internal Affairs, James F. Woodward.

For Congress, J. Howard Swick.

For General Assembly, 1st District, Bart Richards.

For General Assembly, 2nd District, M. A. Bickett.

Charges Aimee Wrote Ormiston Not To Appear

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—"Don't come forward!"

While Aimee Semple McPherson, noted woman evaneglist and exponent of the four-square gospel, was asking that Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at Angelus Temple, come to Los Angeles to clear her name—to divulge the identity of his companion at Carmel—she had really written Ormiston to remain hidden, was the sensational announcement of District Attorney Asa Keyes today.

The sentence, according to Keyes was in a letter written by Mrs. McPherson, but a letter which never reached the man for whom it was intended.

Keys declared he had photographs of this remarkable letter and said that it absolutely cinched the case.

"The identity of the writer of that letter," he said, "is so plain that an expert's testimony was hardly necessary. It was positively written by Mrs. McPherson."

The missive was posted from Los Angeles on Sept. 27. It arrived in New York on Oct. 2.

The letter, as it has been decoded by Keyes, where translation was necessary, follows:

"Dear darling man: This is from a girl who loves you with all her heart! Wuff! Putting up noble fight here. Now for any sakes keep cool. Don't lose your head and come forward. That would be awful! You're doing fine. That person did not get your letter! So you are all right on that score! I don't want you to think that your B. W. (beloved woman) did those silly things—those folks were plants who forced their way in. Think everything will ultimately be all right!

Lying about your age is like setting the clock back to keep the hour from being so late.

The way to get even with an enemy is by learning something from him.

The football contest is a special once a year event and a large number of teams were in it. The Dans Place Midgets and the Grant street eleven who were runners-up to the winners in the contest were given regulation footballs in recognition of their standing in the vote.

Many Requests For Book On State Trees

One Comes All The Way From Russia—Request Is Puzzle

Other News Notes Of Interest Around State House At Harrisburg

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 30. — Prof. Joseph Illick's book, "Pennsylvania Trees", is a volume, requests for which have flooded the State Department of Forests and Waters. The edition of the book was exhausted soon after issued and more than 2000 requests for it are now on file. A request for the book arrived recently from Mezhdunaryodnaya Kniga, Kuznetsky Most 12, Moscow, Union of Socialist Soviet Republics. Even Professor Illick, who speaks several languages fluently, was a bit vague as to where the name of the supplicant ended and his address began.

Appearance of the new Pennsylvania State Manual, formerly Smulls handbook, as usual, has been followed with a flood of requests to all state offices for copies of the book. It contains a wealth of information pertinent to the state's affairs, and this year the book has come as near as is possible in being up to the minute with information. Accitional tables of state finances and election statistics have taken the places of many of the old features. The current issue of the book is, without pictures of any kind. The usual biographies of state officials appear in the edition, but their faces are missing.

Work on the various improvements, now underway at the capitol, has kept Samuel B. Rambo, nominally deputy secretary of the State Department of Property and Supplies, one of the busiest men on the state payroll. Despite the title, Rambo really is the superintendent of all local state projects and he does most of his bossing out on the job instead of from his office. Rambo came to Harrisburg as assistant superintendent of construction during the time the capitol was under construction. He later became chief. Rambo knows the nooks and corners of the great building better than the average man knows his home. Rambo is the final arbiter on many improvement plans.

Parking on the plaza in front of the capitol, is a thing of the past, at least for several months, possibly forever. Despite work that has been going on all summer on sections of the plaza, a certain number of cars always found some place to edge in. A giant steam shovel has begun tearing up the concrete blocks and guards prevent cars entering the plaza. State employes have been compelled to find parking space for their cars in back of the capitol building and enter by the back entrances.

Forest department attaches have watched with interest the development of six Japanese chesnut trees, planted ten years ago near Gap, Lancaster county. So far the trees have escaped the blight and this year they yielded a good crop of nuts. The chestnut tree blight has been one of the chief worries and interests of the department, and the yearly efforts of the ordinary Pennsylvania chestnut shoots to survive the disease have been checked carefully. The apparent immunity of the Japanese trees may help to solve the problem of reforesting Pennsylvania hills with the golden nut, the department pointed out.

Formal notice is expected to be given soon by the State Industrial Board forbidding the oiling or cleaning of machinery, when it is classed as a hazard, while in motion. The notice will be the result of an extensive investigation of accidents occuring in Pennsylvania industries. The board has been studying accident reports for some time with a view to cutting down possibilities for mishaps and fatalities in the industries of the state.

Foster's Weather Prognostication

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—November promises to bring periods of severe weather and considerable storm force to North America. The month is expected to be ushered in during a period of moderately cold weather extending from 1 to 7 and centering on 5; following this period of below normal temperatures, Moderate temperatures, averaging a little above normal, will be expected to rule from 8 to 17; from 18 to 30 is expected to be a period of severe storm force and temperature extremes, with principal high barometers and consequent cold waves traveling southward. Precipitation for the month is expected to average above normal in southern, eastern, southcentral and north Pacific coast sections; about normal elsewhere most precipitation near 7 and 20. General average temperatures for the month are expected to be below normal, but with periods of great extremes. Most severe weather during period from 18 to 30, centering on 19 and 24. Temperatures for the month are expected to average lower, relative to local normals, in southern sections than in northern sections. Greatest extremes and most severe weather are expected in sections 2, 4 and 7, the extreme northwest and the entire northeast. A mild storm wave is expected to center on 2, moderate storm wave to center on 14, very severe storm wave to center on 19 and a severe storm wave to center on 24. Best outdoor weather from 6 to 11. Outdoor work for the month should be cleared up where possible before 19. I expect more really severe weather during November than during the month of December, 1926.

November Influences.

Sun spot specialists have found that conjunctions, oppositions and squares of the bodies of our solar system, under certain other conditions, cause sun spots or sun storms. They also believe that sun spots and earth storms are related. During November, 1926, many configurations of this nature will occur and, if other conditions are right, a much spotted sun, with severe storms on the earth will result during the month. Saturn, Venus, Sun, Mercury, Earth, Moon and Mars, in the consecutive order as named, will make a supreme effort to form a straight line on November 19. Mars, who has been acting as the earth's pacemaker for several months, will begin to drop behind after coming into opposition on November 4. Ancient astrologers considered Mars the god of war, but it is my belief that the relative position of Mars, during the last half of 1926, caused that planet's influence to act as a shock absorber and the chief cause in preventing the present fall from being exceptionally cold and severe. Jupiter, Sun and Neptune, during November, 1926, almost form a line at right angles to that formed by the seven bodies mentioned above, causing many positions termed heliocentric squares to be formed during the month. It would be hard to imagine a month that would contain more sun spot positions from which to study cause and effect or to check up theories. That immense spot now on the sun, estimated to be 125,000 miles in diameter, should be muchly reinforced during November. The immediate result of these configurations will be storms of marked intensity, probably most severe in Indian ocean and in eastern Pacific ocean north of the equator.

DESTROYING PARK.

At the present time a number of boys of the Seventh ward seem to have a mania for destroying the public park on Liberty street, especially on their way home from school. On Thursday one young tree was broken down completely and other young trees have had large branches broken off of them with the boys climbing into the trees and they not being mature enough to bear their weight.

Fourteen were present. Special guests present were: Julia Ann Uber, Dorothy Shriver, Edis McCann, Betty Martin and Elizabeth Dripps. An enjoyable evening was spent with a ghost walk, games, telling ghost stories, etc. At a seasonable hour refreshments were served.

When refused admission to the club the thugs fired a shotgun through the door. Pursued by a carload of detectives, they staged a running fight which threw the district into an uproar. The bandits escaped when the police car broke down.

TWO OKLAHOMAS GET LIFE SENTENCES FOR KILLING OSAGE INDIAN

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 30.—After months of work, in which thousands of dollars was spent, the government convicted William K. Hale, Northern Oklahoma cattle man and alleged leader of a murder conspiracy that struck terror into the Osage tribe of Indians several years ago. Nearly a score of persons met violent deaths in the Osage country within two years.

Hale, known as the "king of the Osage hills," and John Ramsey, a cowboy farmer, were found guilty by a jury in Federal court on a charge of slaying Henry Roan, an Osage Indian, who was shot to death, the government charged, so that Hale could collect $25,000 insurance which he carried on the Indian's life. The jury imposed life sentences.

TWO HOMES MADE HAPPY

By Women Who Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I think it is the most wonderful medicine I ever tried," is the statement made by Mrs. Goldie Shoup of May View, Illinois. She declares that after taking the Compound she is in better health than before.

Mrs. J. Storms of 29 Lane Street, Paterson, N. J., writes: "I can not speak too highly of your medicine and I recommend it to all my friends."

These statements were taken from two enthusiastic letters which tell of the help that has been received from using the Vegetable Compound. Both Mrs. Shoup and Mrs. Storms were in a run-down condition which caused them much unhappiness. When women are suffering from lack of strength and from weakness, their own life and that of their family is affected. When they feel well and strong and are able to do their housework easily, happy homes are the result.

Union Oil Company Of California To Build Plant In Venezuela

VALUABLE RELICS REPORTED STOLEN

By THOMAS R. CURRAN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 30.—Indicating further expansion into South America the Union Oil Co., of California announced today that $3,500,000 will be spent during the next six months developing 900,000 acres of oil land in Venezuela.

A subsidiary operating company will carry out the work of development ond a fifty-fifty basis with the Panpepec company of South America which owns the Venezuelan property.

At present the Union Oil Co. is developing 500,000 acres of Oil land in Columbia.

More "movie" stars and players excel at swimming than at any other sport.

Hollywood is so near the ocean that any idle afternoon can be spent in the surf. Also many pictures have one or two swimming sequences and therefore the players must know how to swim.

Norma Shearer and George K. Arthur both under contract to M-G-M are unusually proficient in the water; Pauline Starke swims at least once a day and Lew Cody, Antonio Moreno and Conrad Nagel all have pools in their own backyards.

Beautiful feminine pedestrians have recently adopted the practice of taking down the license numbers of machines driven by motorists who cruise the streets for chance companions. The numbers turned over to policemen frequently result in the owners of the cars being fed, clothed and sheltered at the expense of the county.

REPUBLICAN VOTERS ATTENTION!

Having passed through a hard fought but clean campaign for the Republican congressional nomination, and won; it has been my desire that it would be possible to finish the present campaign in the same manner.

I can say nothing against the character of my opponent, and so far as I am aware, he has not uttered one harmful word against mine, but during the past week, some person or group of persons, who not having the courage to come out in the open, but choose to hide behind the title of "Citizen's Committee", even as a thief works in the dark, have sought to injure me, through the medium of anonymous letters and postal cards, bearing an unwarranted and untrue insinuation, urging your support for my opponent, the Democratic nominee.

Others who seek to disrupt the Republican ranks, have opened a barrage of propoganda, to the effect, that I am opposed to the Pymatuming Dam.

The attack of the no name "Citizens' Committee", is unworthy of consideration, since they are too cowardly to back it with their names, as to the Pymatuming Dam, I am vitally interested in the industrial and financial progress of this district, and it surely follows that I favor the Pymatuming Dam or any other project that will forward such progress.

As to my character, my townsmen, who are in a better position to talk on that, have given me their unqualified endorsement, which includes that of the ministry as follows:—"We are endorsing a candidate who is worthy and well qualified for the high office to which he aspires, a man of affairs who has an intimate knowledge and sympathetic acquaintance with his constituency, a man who stands high in the councils of his church and a man whose equipment and experience justifies the conviction that he will represent the district with capacity, fidelity and honor. (Signed) Andrew M. Shea, pastor First M. E. church; Daniel P. Sherrer, pastor of Gospel Tabernacle; M. L. Jenney, pastor First Christian church; Thomas D. Rees, pastor First Baptist church; J. W. Enlow, pastor College Hill M. E. church; Amos Bannister, pastor St. Mary's Episcopal church".

Only two more days will follow until election day. I am confident, that a big majority of voters will assure me the election, and I again assure you of my sincere intention to hold office as a Christian, honest, Republican.

I solicit the support of every Republican Voter.

HE GAVE HIS POOR DOG A BONE.

"'Keen as were Wander's eyes they no sooner glimpsed the Man at the back of the tent than the Man glimpsed him. The Man put his hands to his mouth and a whistle loud and shrill rent the silence.

"'The men paused in their fishing; the women looked up from their cooking. Was it a signal, a warning?

"'Only the Dog on the crest of the hill knew beyond doubt its meaning.

"'"Come here, Dog of Mine," it called. "Linger not an instant but come straight to my side as an arrow."

"'And Wander obeyed. He wouldn't have dared not to. Before the whistle's echo was lost Wander was racing down the hillside and—would you believe me acushlas?—in less time than I'm telling you he was at his Master's feet.

"'Now, you or I, acushlas, would meet our Master, Dog to Man. We would not cringe. We would not cower. We would stand upon our four feet and face him as a friend.

"'But those Dogs of Long Ago were not free and equal. They were servants of their Masters, and if the Masters were cruel so much the worse for the Dogs. So Wander crouched there at his Master's feet humbly entreating his favor.

"'"Truant! Where have you been this long while?" demanded the Man. "By what right are you absent from my side! You had not my permission! Come, sir, give an account of yourself!"

"'The words were harsh, children, but the voice was kindly, and it was that which Wander heeded. He lifted his head and gratefully licked the tips of his Master's fingers. And then Wander tried to tell his Master all about that wonderful night on the Mount of Many Barks, and how 'twas Man himself that the Dogs had chosen God. But the Man did not understand the language of the Four-Foots and so could not understand. And the Dog was disappointed and buried his head between his paws.

"'Suddenly in front of his very nose there appeared a great beefy bone, and Wander looked up in time to see the hand that had thrown it drawn hastily back. Where his Master had found it Wander neither knew nor cared. Enough for him the feast was before him, for his night's jaunt had made him very hungry. Besides, what Master who was angry would give his poor Dog a bone?'"

NEW CASTLE AND SCHENLEY BATTLE IN MUD

Rain Fails To Dampen Spirit

Schenley High Team Arrives Early Today, Followed By 500 Supporters

WEIGHT WILL BE BIG FACTOR

By "BUGS" WALTHER

Under weeping skies and with the New Castle band blasting forth "It Ain't Gonna Rain No more", the New Castle and Schenley High schoolboy grid teams sallied into action at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Ben Franklin field.

The playing field, following a two-day rain, closely resembled the now almost forgotten murder swamp. The day was ripe for almost anything outside of football and much more appropriate for crocheting.

Important Battle

The high school battle being staged here is perhaps one of the most important on today's scolastic schedule. Both New Castle and Schenley have gone through an undefeated season. They may come out of the game today with their records unblemished, and they may not. Chances were that Schenley High, with a team that outweighs the New Castle machine, would find the mud more to their liking. It was to be another New Castle-Ellwood fight on a sloppy gridiron, with the heavier team holding what little advantage was offered.

The Schenley team reached this city shortly before noon today and immediately took up quarters in a local hotel. The Schenley High special train over the P. & L. E. lines arrived shortly after 12 o'clock with about 500 fans and students making more noise than a boiler factory. Schenley High was prepared to show New Castle that they meant to defeat the heralded Bridenbaugh strategy.

Locals Favored

Speculation favored New Castle to win today's game. Interest in the game has been at fever heat here for the past while and indications were at 1:30 o'clock that all previous attendance records at the spacious stadium would be eclipsed. The fans started to jam their way into the playing field about one o'clock. They were to witness two of the finest schoolboy teams in western Pennsylvania in action and the rain failed to dampen the ardor of the occasion.

Slickers, umbrellas and galoshes were quite conspicuous in the crowd that gathered soon after dinner and filled the downtown streets before going to the playing field.

CATLIN WINS AT EMPIRE TRACK

Wins Six Furlong Event From Copiage In Thrilling Race

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Three horses finished noses apart in the October Handicap at Empire track Friday, Catalan winning the six furlong event from Copiapo and Celedon in a thrilling finish.

The three entries came into the home stretch almost abreast, Catalan outsprinting Celedon by inches. Jockey Aranda, who rode Copiapo apparently into third place, lodged a claim of foul against Fator, who was astride Celedon. He contended that interference had thrown Copiapo out of stride early in the race, and the claim was allowed by the judges, relegating Celedon to last place.

The race, which was run in 1:09 4-5, was worth $1,160.

The Mount Royal Handicap, feature at Laurel, went to Sport Trail, with Brown Bud second and Buddie Bauer third. The winner covered the six furlongs in 1:13 2-5.

Westminster In Pittsburgh For Grid Game Today

Pitt Players Warned Not To Be Over Confident Against United Presbyterians

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 30.—Hoping to take advantage of Pitt's "lean year" to put over a victory the Westminster college eleven coached by Dwight Beede, former Carnegie Tech star was to battle Pitt on a muddy gridiron here this afternoon.

Coach Chalky Williamson in charge of the Pitt team, while Jock Sutherland is in Philadelphia looking for pointers on the W. and J. style for use next week cautioned the Panthers against over confidence against Westminster.

The Pitt freshmen play the Penn State yearlings at State College this afternoon.

GENEVA MEETS THIEL TODAY

Coach McMillen's Warriors Favored To Defeat Greenville Team

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Oct. 30.—Thiel and Geneva are to celebrate Walter Camp day together in the field of Reeves stadium at Beaver Falls. The game is expected to draw a large crowd, even though this is not one of Geineva's biggest games. No doubt the Greenville crew will cause the Gold and White some trouble, for they are keyed up to the limit for this opportunity to gain prestige and to raise their tri-state standing. The Geneva boys are practically free from hard luck casualties or ineligible culprits. The squad seems to be in good mid-sason physical condition and the close call at Waynesburg was a sobering influence which makes the Gold and White eleven a careful one.

West Virginia Will Play Pitt Next Saturday

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 30.—The West Virginia Mountaineers, for the last quarter century one of the most bitter rivals of the University of Pittsburgh, are the next opponents for the Panthers. The Mountain State university eleven comes to the stadium here next Saturday.

Over a long span of seasons, the West Virginians were included among Pitt's "let-up" games but starting in 1920, when Pitt had its hands full to win, the visitors have constantly grown stronger, winning the 1922 and 1923 contests. Last fall West Virginia was defeated after outplaying the Blue and Gold for a great part of the game, a fumble paving the way to Pitt's victory. The defeat was the only one suffered by the West Virginians.

The Morgantown eleven is coached by Ira Rodgers, all-American fullback in 1919, who succeeded Dr. C. W. Spears when the latter left West Virginia to coach Minnesota two years ago. The team is captained by Ross McHenry, one of the outstanding linemen in the east and boasts such stars at Latham, center, and Morrison, Hardy, Glenn and Hamilton, halfbacks.

Although Pitt's season thus far has been disastrous with defeats by Carnegie Tech and Lafayette and a tie with Georgetown, a victory over the Mountaineers would do much to offset these reversals. Coach Dr. J. B. Sutherland does not dare point the varity too keenly for following the Mountaineers by one week will be W. & J. and this latter game is by far the most important on the schedule.

Hudkins Wins Decision Over Phil McGraw

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Ace Hudkins the "Nebraska wildcat" is Phil McGraw's master of that New York boxing experts were pretty much agreed today. But Ace hasn't very much on the handsome Detroit Greek.

Hudkins and McGraw staged another spectacular battle at Madison Square Garden last night before a capacity crowd, Ace winning the decision after 12 torrid rounds. Ace won six rounds, McGraw two and four were even. It was a hard fought battle from start to finish. Their previous fight was closer and harder to decide that battle going 15 rounds. But last night the decision was unanimous as far as the judges were concerned.

Homestead High Cup Hopes Flit

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 30. — Another aspiring Syracuse cup contender was eliminated yesterday when Duquesne High handed Homestead its first defeat of the year, taking the count by the score of 7-2 in a brilliantly-fought game on a muddy field

FOOTBALL AND TRACK — BY FEG MURRAY

Copyright, 1926, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

Many track and field stars of note have also succeeded in the gridiron game. Yet now and then there crops up an example of a fine sprinter, or a fine hurdler, who can't forget that he is the possessor of "million dollar legs," and so is always trying to save himself, when he hits the line or is tackled, at the expense of his football ability.

Jim Thorpe was not only the greatest all-around football player, but he was also one of the greatest all-around track and field stars. Young "Tony" Plansky of Georgetown University, is a sort of "second Thorpe" in that respect, as he is also inter-collegiate decathlon champion, and starred at full-back for his college all last football season. Hills and Gates of Princeton, Lieb of Notre Dame, and Anderson of Southern California, are good examples of weight men who were also great linesmen on their college elevans, and there is no reason why the beefy boys shouldn't shine at both sports. It is the sprinters and hurdlers who afford a more interesting subject for discussion, so let's consider a few of them.

Two of the University of Southern California's great athletes, Fred Kelly, Olympic hurdling champion, and Charley Paddock, Olympic sprint champion, both failed as football players. They are only two examples of many. Why is it? No lack of what Coach Zuppke, of Illinois, calls "intestinal fortitude," certainly. The aforementioned saving of the legs, so inborn to a great track star, had a lot to do with it, also the fact that they had been trained so long to run in a straight line that they could not master the side-stepping, swerving, and dodging so necessary to a good backfield man.

Right niw at Harvard, Al Miller, a 9 and 4-5th man in the "hundred" is trying, for the third year, to be a success as a football player. Miller isn't "yellow," but last year he had the unhappy faculty of dropping the ball when tackled, and otherwise doing things a great halfback does not do. It will be interesting to see whether Al overcomes his "sprinter's habits" under Arnold Horween's tutelage in this, his last season.

On the other hand there are many runners of championship class whose deeds on the gridiron were equal to their feats on the cinderpath. Roland Locke of Nebraska, is the most recent example of these, and not far behind him were Bowman of Syracuse, and Koppisch of Columbia. Craig of Michigan, an Olympic sprint champion, was an All-American football player, while Gus Desch, starred as a hurdler and half-back for Notre Dame. And there are many others.

Feg Murray Says—"The police at the whippet races have been instructed to enforce the laws aginst dogs going without muzzles and throwing cushions on to the field."—Florida newspaper.

Yale-Army Battle At New Haven; Dartmouth-Brown Is Headliner

HARVARD HAS EASY AFTERNOON

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—While the Navy-Michigan and West Virginia-Missouri games basked in the spotlight of the east's football program today because of their intersectional interest, the Dartmouth-Brown and Army-Yale contests also had an important bearing on the scramble for national honors.

With the Penn-Illinois and Notre Dame-Georgia clashes contributing further intersectional spice and two unbeaten elevens, Southern California and Stanford coming to grips on the coast, a galazy of classics was prepared for gridiron fans throughout the country.

Clashes between bitter rivals were on the card in New York with Columbia meeting its ancient enemy Cornell and New York University and Fordham battling for the city championship.

Two unbeaten teams, Washington and Jeferson and Lafayette, Locked horns in their annual classic in Pennsylvania. Colgate was favored to defeat Michagan State.

An easy afternoon is in prospect for Harvard which played Tufts and for Syracuse which met Johns Hopkins. Princeton's hitherto mediocre eleven promised to come to life against Swarthmore.

Tuskegee Eleven Beats Macline

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 30.—Tuskegee University defeated Lincoln University of Chester, Pa., 20 to six, on Franklin field before 5,000 persons here yesterday in a keenly fought football game. Ben Stevenson, the Alabamans' right halfback, scored all his team's points with two touchdowns, two placement goals and two points after touchdown.

In the third period, getting the ball on his own 20-yard line after a touchback, he raced around his right end for 80 yards and a score.

Alexander Did Not Let Ruth Walk Intentionally

Insisted That He "Pitch To Babe", But Claims Umpire Too Exacting

Rogers Hornsby wanted to pass Babe Ruth when the later came to bat in the last inning of the last game at the recent world series. Grover Alexander however insisted he should be allowed to pitch to the Bambino and he won his argument but passed Ruth at that. Alex however always has insisted he struck Babe out but that Umpire Hildebrand was too exacting claiming his last two offerings could have been called strikes.

Hornsby in a recent interview, tells the story this way:

"No one on when Babe came to bat in the ninth inning. Two out and we had to get but one man to win the game and series. As Babe came up I remembered the four home runs that Babe already had made in the series and figured it would be playing safe to walk him.

Hornsby for Passing.

"I walked over to Alexander and said: 'What do you say to passing the big fellow?'

"'What for?' asked Alex.

"'Better give him four wide ones and one base than give him one good one and four bases, letting him tie the score.'

"'Rats,'" replied Alex. "He hasn't hit a ball outside the infield on me yet and he isn't going to this time either.'

"He seemed so confident I gave in and played as deeply for Babe as I could. Alex pitched the first one purposely wide, hoping Babe would go after it. He did not. The second was a strike and Babe swung and missed. Then another wide one and Babe let that one go by. Babe fouled off the fourth one and the count was two and two.

Pitch Held Wide.

"Alex put everything he had on the fifth and I thought it a strike but Hildebrand called it a ball. Then he threw another screw ball that Alex thought a third strike right over the outside corner but Hildebrand said it was an inch outside and motioned Ruth to trot to first.

"Alex argued a little but of course it was no use saying 'You might have given an old has been like me the benefit of the doubt.'

"And it sure would have been a great stunt striking out Ruth to bring the deciding game to an end."

SCHENLEY HIGH HOPES TO DEFEAT NEW CASTLE HIGH

By WILLIAM J. FARRELL

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 30.—Schenley High school dreams of more than three years will be realized today when the gridiron warriors representing the Bellefield institution clash with Phil Bridenbaugh's New Castle High school eleven on the New Castle grounds.

Ever since the New Castle High school team won the W. P. I. A. L. championship three years ago by defeating the Charleroi High aggregation, Schenley High teams have had the desire to compete with the Lawrence countians. Schenley, in the year 1923, was also an undefeated team, but due to their record were not given any consideration as a championship contender.

Schenley was as proud as one should be of its undefeated eleven, and the fact it was not even considered as a W. P. I. A. L. contender rankled it somewhat. It did not openly boast that should the two teams meet New Castle no longer would be the W. P. I. A. L. champion, but it held this thought deep down in its heart.

Schenley this afternoon will not be as strong as the team of 1923, and neither will New Castle. The teams are about as evenly matched as they possibly could be; that is, if the regular line-ups of both schools are intact for the fray. Schenley will be, for no injured members have reported as yet, but New Castle has several ailing members who nevertheless will start. Robinson, center; Harper, fullback, and Sillman, quarterback, are suffering from injuries received in previous games.

Fletcher Signs As Yankee Coach

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The action of Miller Huggins in signing Arthur Fletcher as coach of the Yankees for next season was hailed by baseball men today as an excellent move on the part of the New York club. A fighter of Fletcher's type is exactly what is needed to inject color and aggressiveness into the Yanks, it was pointed out.

Fletcher recently was deposed as manager of the Phillies after 17 years of service in the National league

Duquesne And Bethany In Tie

Bethany Has Edge In First Half, Duquesne In Last Part

PITTSBURGH Oct. 30—Through rain, mist and a bone chilling lake of mud Frank McDermott's Dukes and the Bethany host of Furman Nuss battled to a 0-0 dead-lock on the Bluff gridiron here yesterday. Mixing fiercely despite the most adverse weather conditions imaginable the gallant Hill-toppers fought the equally courageous Bison lads to a well played standstill that altogether satisfied all save the most rapid adherents of the opposing elevens. The even-Stephen verdict usually rather an unwelcome outcome to parties concerned was no less than just to both contenders in the Bluffite clash, Bethany holding a decided edge throughout the initial half and the Steel City array garnering a distinct margin in the latter section of the affair.

Geneva May Play In Florida On New Years Day

(International News Service)

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Oct. 30.—Although the offer for a game in Denver on December 4 with the winner of the Rocky Mountain conference has been accepted it is possible that Geneva college also will accept the invitation to play a Florida team in Jacksonville on New Year's day athletic officials announced today.

Geneva is coached by "Bo" McMillin former Centre college star. The team defeated Harvard this season.

More than a ton of admission tickets will be required for the Army-Navy football game this year.

Union And Franklin Junior High In Tie

Ben Franklin Junior High staged a comeback in their football game with Union High Friday evening and battled through four quarters of real football to hold the highly touted Union team to a scoreless tie.

Mud and slop of the worst kind hampered the play of both teams continually after the first few minutes of play and one could hardly tell one individual from another.

Fumbles were numerous and about equally distributed on both sides.

Referee "Scoots" Nelson had a few extra duties added to his regular ones and he was called upon to wipe the dirt out of someone's eye and with the selfsame towel he woud rub the slime off the ball and then to make the towel a complete mess he would give it to the backfield men to wipe the mud off the punter's toe before he could attempt to boot the ball.

Union took the kick-off, but was unable to gain as they repeatedly attempted to run the ends, and were forced to punt. When Franklin got the ball they found themselves in the same fix and they in their turn were forced to kick. The quarter ended shortly after another exchange of kicks had been made.

The Ben Franklin line could not hold out the members of the Union team and Mitchell was forced to punt hurriedly every time. Considering this, he got away some very nice kicks.

The second quarter was a repetition of the first and neither team came within reach of the goal line. Beres, captain and right guard of the Franklin team, put up a wonderful game during this quarter and also throughout the rest of the game. Schiek for Union was successful in gaining consistently and completed several forward passes to Kellar. The only thrill of the game came in this quarter and that was quite thrilling while it lasted, but it was very short. A back of the Ben Franklin team fumbled and fell on the ball, but it slipped out of his arms and a lineman of Union broke through and picked up the pigskin and galloped over for what seemed to be a touchdown, but the referee had tooted his whistle shortly after the fumble and the ball was dead from there on and so this one and only score did not count.

The last half of the game was not unlike the first and both teams resorted to the punt as their best weapon, and the ball was nearly always in the middle of the field and the honors can be divided evenly. A good-sized crowd of students of the Ben Franklin Junior High and numerous rooters from the west side were spectators and they all seemed to get a great deal of enjoyment out of seeing the battle.

Penn Favored To Defeat Illinois In Important Game

Illinois Minus Grange Rated Second To Eastern Combination

(International News Service)

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 30.—Sixty thousand persons are expected to see Pennsylvania's undefeated football team execute its magic against Coach Bob Zuppke's Grangeless Illini here this afternoon in the outstanding intersectional game in the mid-west.

The game will feature annual Illinois dad's day celebration and will attract in the neighborhood of 25,000 fans from Chicago.

The easterners whose hidden ball offensive has been the topic of much controversial discussion, particularly during the last week, will rely on their slight-of-hand attack to avenge the smarting defeat administered to them by Red Grange and the Zuppke pack at Philadelphia last year.

Russ Daugherty, who was conspicuous in last year's meeting between these two teams and Frosty Peters, drop kicking Sophomore sensation, are looked to as Illinois chief hopes for victory.

Early wagers favored the invaders despite their apparent inferiority in the matter of momentary physical condition. Pennsylvania is seriously handicappel by the illness of Charley Rodgers and the injury of Wasconlas who may not be able to play. Illinois has nursed Stewart and Capt. Kassel to good playing health and will start the game with its full strength.

Believe Tunney Will Have To Give Dempsey First Chance At Crown

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Unless sentiment in favor of Dempsey wanes with the passing of time, Gene Tunney, new heavyweight king, will be forced to give the ex-champion the first crack at the title he once held. That is evident now.

Dempsey, in the hasbeen class, is more popular in New York (Tunney's home town) than Tunney is as champion of the world. This is not a personal belief. The question of popularity was decided in an emphatic manner the other night when the two men were called into the same ring to receive championship belts. The great ovation given Jack and the mixture of boos and cheers that greeted Tunney spoke for themselves.

But aside from this actual demonstration it is apparent that Dempsey's sportsmanship during the period of training for his losing fight, his action in the ring, his generous praise of Tunney since that night and his refusal to cook up alibis for his poor showing have won to his side hundreds of thousands of fans who disliked him during his championship days.

Another interesting slant on the situation is the air of naturalness in Dempsey's manner. It was Dempsey the champion, schooled to act the part, who appeared in public during his heyday. Now Dempsey, no longer pestered with the responsibilities of the crown—or with a publicity-hungry manager—is himself. The public has sensed this and are finding out the real man in him.

Dempsey, in a way, is still the outstanding heavyweight. Tunney draws the glamor. He is the new "toy" in the fight world. But the old crowd seems loathe to forget Dempsey, which ought to make Dempsey feel mighty dinged happy.

Bobby Jones, British open and U. S. open golf champ, has stated that he probably will not defend his British crown next season, as a trip to Europe would interfere with the pursuit of his knowledge of law at Emory University, Atlanta, Ga. Bobby does say, however, that he will defend the American open diadem and hopes to win back the amateur championship.

"But both of these tourneys are becoming tougher and tougher", remarks Robert the Valiant.

Which remark, coming from the Georgia star, would indicate again that he has come to maturity. The natural confidence and cock-sureness of one's teens have given way to a more serious mien. And this is what, more than anything else, has helped his game in the last two or three years. One plays more consistently realizing the responsibility and the necessity for good care and judgment.

Clark Griffith has an army of 21 pitchers signed up or at least in line for the spring training season of 1927. From this list the Old Fox hopes to find at least two regulars and perhaps three to help carry the Nats along next season. His present plans include only Walt Johnson, Stanley Coveleskie and Fred Marberry of the present mound staff. George Murray and Curley Ogden, with the team last season, will have to fight it out with the bevy of newcomers and recalled flingers for a place on the company payroll. Of the newcomers the most likely looking prospect, based on last season's efforts, is Braxton, young southpaw who showed considerable ability with the Yankees and was turned over to Washington in the deal that sent the veteran Dutch Ruether to the New York club.

Michigan Favored To Defeat "Middies

Powerful Friedman-To-Oosterbaan Forward Pass May Down Naval Team

Baltimore Will Send 80,000 Fans To Stadium To Witness Classic

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'l News Service

BALTIMORE, Md., October 30.—When Greek meets Greek, they start a restaurant and, in the ordinary course of human events, when Michigan meets the Navy, they start an argument. That, at least, will be the logical supposition of some 80,000 persons who hope to see the Wolverine and the Middie in combat here this afternoon.

An argument is the inevitable climax of such a meeting in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred but the hundredth happened last year, the result being one of those single-breasted arguments, like a punch in the nose. Michigan won by a mere matter of 54 to 0.

The east fairly staggered under the impact of that one. Far into the night, newspaper offices were besieged with inquiries from the incredulous who figured somebody had added the railroad fare to Ann Arbor and the general trend of thought might best be illustrated by that immortal epic of pained disbelief:

"Tell me it ain't so, Joe"?

But it was. However, the east labored under the belief today that the Greek versus Greek chestnut might yet be cat's-pawed into the light of day and so the Baltimore stadium was to play host to a capacity house most of which was committed to an eastern come back and all of which was inspired by the rather contrary hope that Friedman, Molenda, Oosterbaan, Flora, Gilbert and other Michigan stars would play altogether up to their reputations.

If they do, Michigan will win again, for it was the Friedman to Oosterbaan pass team and Mollenda's plunging that made last year's navy disaster possible. It is taken for granted, however, that that disaster will not be repeated this afternoon, the Navy obviously being a better equipped team than its 1925 outfit. In addition, it is psychologically keyed up with the idea that it will meet a super-team and maybe it is.

Michigan Undefeated.

The Wolverine has rushed thru its season to date without the loss of a game and its goal line, as yet, is uncrossed, even by Illinois. The Navy also has escaped defeat by the grace of fate and a 99-yard run following a Colgate fumble. The game, therefore, will be rich with intersectional significance.

It also will afford Michigan its first chance to display Yost's latest coterie of stars, although truth to tell the 1925 team would have furnished a more convincing demonstration. Edwards, Hawkins and Brown, linemen of All American calibre, have passed on between seasons and I can't help but feel that their absence must mean that Michigan is not what it was.

Its tackles, Baer and Gobel, are good but neither is an Edwards and, although Lovette is back at guard, the centre of the line must miss men like Brown and Hawkins.

Still, the Michigan line showed itself to be a staunch affair against Illinois and, with men like Friedman, Molenda and Gilbert operating to its immediate rear, I don't think anyone need become melancholy about Michigan.

The Navy seems to have a better line than in 1925, Wickhorst and Eddy being veteran tackles of merit and Cross and Born a pair of guards not without big game experience. In addition, Hamilton Shapley, Hannegan and Ransford are backs that have been in there before. Quite so; his Navy team is no push over.

Beaver Winner Over Sewickley

BEAVER, Pa., Oct. 30.—Beaver High school ran off with Sewickley here yesterday on a wet field. The score was 18-0. In the first quarter after an exchange of punts, Beaver took the ball on the 55 and marched down the field, McCloskey featuring in the drive and scoring the touchdown. In the second quarter McCloskey again displayed brilliant line plunging and assisted by a 15-yard pass was able to crash over for the second score. On the first play in the final stanza Carnes poked through the center of the line from the five-yard mark.

Brown Picked To Defeat Dartmouth

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 30—With Dartmouth last year's "mythical" champion, scheduled to meet here today a surprising form reversal has made the visitors a 5-3 favorite. In addition to the fact that Dartmouth has gone down before the attack of both Yale and Harvard while Brown owns a victory over the former, Dartmouth's prospects became even less hopeful when four of her injured regulars were found unfit for action today.

Intersectional Aspect In College Games Today

Penn-Illinois Game Headlines In Middle West; Georgia Tech Meets Notre Dame

Michigan Favored To Defeat Navy; Brown Should Defeat Dartmouth

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'l News Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—Collegiate football will stake itself to an intersectional showdown, a meeting of teams truly representative of their respective districts for the first time this season. The returns should determine to our adequate and mutual satisfaction whether better football is being played this year in the east, the middle west or the south. So far, the east has the decision on points but it has been fattening on soft ones, for the most part, and Michigan, Illinois and Missouri are soft like hardtack.

The middle west, thus, is massing its real strength for the first time and it is satisfying to know that the east is sending three of its unbeaten teams out to take issue with the rival section. The latter also will toss a fourth leader, Notre Dame, into the intersectional pit with one of the southland's best, Georgia Tech.

In consequence, three of the four great sections will be embroiled, the coast alone remaining aloof. The boys out that way will indulge in a strictly private fight, what with the great meeting between Stanford and Southern California and the lesser attractions furnished by California and Oregon and Oregon Aggies and Idaho.

The Navy-Michigan affair at Baltimore probably will carry the greatest importance east of the Mississippi, although plenty of people will want to know whether Pennsylvania can kick a field goal with an elbow pad against Illinois at Urbana. The third great intersectional meeting will involve West Virginia, unbeaten to date, and Missouri, champion of the Valley conference and the fourth will be the Notre Dame-Georgie Tech game at South Bend. It looks like the Irish in this one but I wouldn't attempt to call the result of the Missouri-West Virginia contest.

It will be Missouri's chance to establish the status Valley conference in the east and the boys won't miss that one if they can help it.

Michigan Favored.

Michigan, with Friedman, Oosterbann, Flora and Molenda operating, seems to have too much for the middies. If the Wolverines win, it will be a mort important victory for the middle west than would a Pennsylvania decision over the Illini would mean to the east. Illinois already has finished second to Michigan, so Penn merely would be confirming the idea that Zuppke's outfit is not all it might be.

A Missouri victory over West Virginia, therefore, would establish the suspicion that the middle west can more than hold its own when it has its leaders in the field.

However, the east can hardly go wrong on the day, for Colgate should beat Michigan State, Detroit hardly has a chance with Carnegie Tech and Holy Cross probably will win a saunter from Dayton.

It will be a day of definite developments all around, for several unbeaten teams are to meet. The biggest of these clashes will bring together Stanford and U. S. C. and Lafayette and Washington & Jefferson. I like Lafayette and Southern California. Oregon Aggies seem to have a "breather" with Idaho and I have a hunch that California is due for a comeback against Oregon.

The same hunch tells me that Yale will beat West Point and despoil the Army's record, and that Brown, fighting for the eastern title, will romp over Dartmouth, softened by its battles with Yale and Harvard. Another undefeated eastern team, New York university, is being picked to beat Fordham and it should.

The big game of the Valley conference will involve Nebraska and Iowa State. The Cornhuskers seem due here. Drake and Kansas look like a toss up, taking a line thru their respective games with Nebraska. I can't call the turn on the Washington-Oklahoma meeting, either.

The Big Ten schedule calls for three games and a class should be served, with Ohio State beating Chicago, Northwestern taking a fall out of Indiana and Wisconsin beating Minnesota, although I wouldn't bet the crown jewels on that one.

Alabama will get another hard game with Louisiana State but will probably survive. The rest of the southern schedule is a trifle more intricate, natural rivals being coupled in games between Georgia and Florida, Baylor and Texas A. & M., Tulane and Mississippi, Alabama Poly and Sewanee, and Texas and Southern Methodist. That goes, too, for Virginia Poly and Kentucky.

You don't call that kind, you just watch them. However, I will venture to say that Tennessee looks better than Mississippi Aggies.

Grouse Wanted For Disease Study

An examination of specimens of ruffed grouse secured from various sections of the state has developed the fact that a number of these birds contained parasites which proved detrimental to the health of these wonderful game birds.

As the grouse situation in this state is particularly acute at the present time and the supply must be protected to the full extent if we are to be assured of any future stock an urgent request is made to all sportsmen throughout the state who secured any grouse during the coming season to forward the entire alimentary tract to the Bureau of Animal Industry in care of Dr. E. L. Stubbs, director, 39th and Woodland avenues, Philadelphia, Pa. ,advising the office of the Board of Game Commissioners of such action and sending as complete data as possible to Dr. Stubbs, requesting him to make a report to Dr. H. J. Donaldson, president of the Board of Game Commissioners, 410 Pine street, Williamsport, Pa.

The $2,500 diamond-studded belt which was presented by admiring followers to George Dixon, the kid of the featherweights of a generation ago, is now in possession of Red Chapman, the Boston boxer.

The revival of horse racing in California rests on the fate of the referendum measure to be voted on in November. This measure would legalize race track betting, upon which the future of the sport admittedly depends.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

The Importance of Virginia.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

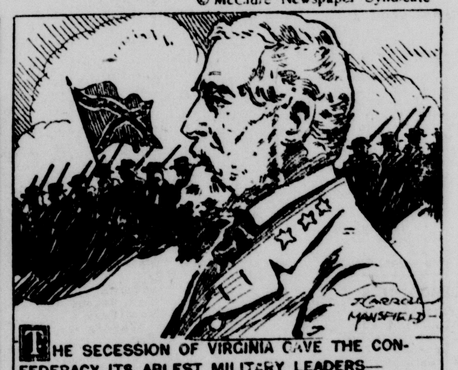

THE SECESSION OF VIRGINIA WAS A HARD BLOW TO THE UNION. IT BROUGHT THE BOUNDARIES OF THE CONFEDERACY WITHIN SIGHT OF THE CAPITOL AT WASHINGTON, AND, AS THE "OLD DOMINION" HAD THE LARGEST POPULATION OF THE ELEVEN SECEDING STATES, ADDED GREAT MILITARY STRENGTH TO THE SOUTHERN CAUSE.

THE TOPOGRAPHY OF VIRGINIA WAS A GREAT ADVANTAGE TO THE CONFEDERATES. THE RIVERS THAT LAY BETWEEN WASHINGTON AND RICHMOND WERE STRONG OBSTACLES IN THE PATH OF THE FEDERAL ARMIES, WHILE, WITH THE SHENANDOAH VALLEY IN THEIR POSSESSION, THE SOUTHERN FORCES COULD THREATEN THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

AS VIRGINIA SEEMED DESTINED TO BE THE CHIEF THEATRE OF OPERATIONS, THE CAPITAL OF THE CONFEDERACY WAS MOVED FROM MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA, TO RICHMOND (MAY, 1861). THIS CITY BECAME THE GOAL OF THE UNION ARMIES.

THE SECESSION OF VIRGINIA GAVE THE CONFEDERACY ITS ABLEST MILITARY LEADERS—LEE, JACKSON AND JOHNSTON. LEE HAD BEEN PICKED BY LINCOLN TO LEAD THE UNION INVADING ARMY, BUT COULD NOT DRAW HIS SWORD AGAINST HIS HOME AND RESIGNED FROM THE UNITED STATES ARMY TO COMMAND THE FORCES OF VIRGINIA.

N. Y. STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Buying of the Nickel Plate Railroad stocks was revived in the short session of the stock market today following ready to place their formal application before the Interstate Commerce Commission for the merging of the roads according to the revised plans drawn up and agreed to by the minority interests of Chesapeake and Ohio and Pere Marquette.

Chesapeake and Ohio stock was in active demand, with the first sale showing a gain of more than 2 points from Friday's close. Erie declined a point or more. Nickel Plate, old stock, was steady, with trading light.

The market as a whole was extremely dull and featureless, with speculative buying held up by the proximity of the elections, and the consequent closing of all markets on Tuesday. Professionals found it comparatively easy to turn the trend of prices downward.

General Motor set a reactionary pace for the high priced speculative leaders and with United States Steel down nearly 2 points selling pressure increased over the whole list.

Oil stocks exhibited a stronger tone, with buying of the important independent oils a feature of the short session.

Both the industrial and the railroad stocks gave ground in the final period as profit taking and speculative selling spread over the active list. U. S. Steel and General Motors lost about 2 points each recovering a portion of their losses at the close. Rails were firm in the final dealings.

Erie Railroad Elminated In Merger Proposal

With The Erie Railroad Eliminated Newport News Would Be Chief Terminal

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The Erie railroad will be eliminated from the revised Nickel Plate railroad merger, according to reports in the financial district today. Chesapeake and Ohio, Pere Marquette, Hocking Valley and New York, Chicago and St. Louis (Old Nickel Plate) will be included, it is reported, in the new combination which when complete will form the fourth important trunk line system of the country.

With Erie eliminated, Newport News would become the chief port of the new trunk line. It is understood that the Van Sweringens, with the aid of powerful New York bankers, will spend a large sum to build up Newport News as a great Atlantic port.

Wall Street heard that Erie may be taken over as an important link in the new transportation system being built up by the Delaware and Hudson road, under the management of L. F. Loree.

Discuss Traffic Conditions Here

Automotive Group Of Chamber Of Commerce Meets Police Officials

One of the best meetings ever held by the Automotive Group of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce was held as a luncheon meeting on Thursday, October 28, in the Elks Club, with A. C. McCoy, chairman of this group presiding.

In addition to L. C. John, Percy B. Walls, A. C. McCoy, members of the Automotive Group Mayor William H. Dunlap and Chief of Police Henry Dysart were present.

After luncheon, a discussion on ways and means of remedying traffic conditions in New Castle was held, the members of the Automotive group expressing to Mayor Dunlap and Chief Dysart their desire to assist and co-operate in every possible way.

It was stated by Mayor Dunlap that definite plans for improvement of traffic conditions in the immediate vicinity of the new central fire station, which is to be built, are being completed, and that the general traffic committee which he was instrumental in having formed to study traffic conditions in New Castle would in all probability be a permanent one as the organizations which are represented on this committee have been requested to make their representatives permanent on this board.

Mayor Dunlap stated that one meeting of this organization had been held and that while no definite action had been taken, plans for a comprehensive survey are underway, and that no doubt in the near future recommendations for the opening of new streets and other betterment of conditions here would be submitted. He and Police Chief Dysart were very enthusiastic in their appreciation for the co-operation now being rendered the several departments of our municipal government by the various branches of the Chamber of Commerce. Following the adjournment of the meeting, the members present together with Mr. Dunlap and Mr. Dysart made a personal inspection of several of the districts in which general changes are to be made.

Dividends Are Week's Feature

Extra And Enlarged Dividends Mark Week In Stock Market

MAINTAIN VOLUME OF RETAIL TRADE

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Nothing that occurred in the stock market this week gave any indication of a change in the sentiment and methods of the powerful professional traders and pools who have been "behind" the movements of prices in the speculative favorites since the middle of September.

The bulls were furnished with plenty of ammunition in the form of extra and enlarged dividends of prominent railroad and industrial corporations, record-breaking movements of freight in domestic trade, unprecedentedly high earnings for the leading steel and motor corporations, maintenance of large volume of retail trade and a buoyant bond market in which prices for both foreign and domestic bonds soared above the best previous records for the year in enthusiastic buying. To top off this list of favorable factors long term money rates showed a distinctly easier tendency, call money was loaned in abundance and rumors revived of a decline in the rediscout rates of the reserve banks where an increase was talked of a few weeks ago.

The continued absence of the outside public from the stock market of necessity emphasized the professional nature of the bulk of the week's trading. The industrial and specialty stocks appeared to be set on a hair trigger, with any predominance of buying or selling activity reflected in sharp advances and declines in the active stocks. In two of the week's sessions the whole list was pushed forward on professional trading, only to drop heavily in the last half hour as traders scrambled for their profits. Incidentally, the professionals who remain stubbornly committed to the short side of the market were always ready to help along the decline by hastily thrown in selling orders for a few thousand shares of any stock which appeared to be moving faster than its neighbors.

While a number of the business and economic agencies forecast a declining volume of business over the remaining months of the year, they have failed to receive any confirmation thereof from the actual heads of the business and manufacturing corporations. Motor manufacturers insist that the incoming orders have been increasing; steel heads point to the magnificent showing of net earnings in the third quarter, a period in which the unfavorable forecasts were quite prominent; leading construction interests can find no justification for the unfavorable reports and forecasts submitted by the so-called experts.

Foreign exchange and cotton shared financial interest with the stock market this week. The government's crop survey, issued on Monday, added another 800,000 bales to the prospective cotton crop, bringing the total to close to 17,500,000 bales. Cotton prices worked lower, but constructive measures are expected to stabilize prices and provide for a more orderly flow of cotton to the points of consumption.

The new Belgian belga, introduced to this market on Monday, was abandoned on Friday in favor of the old franc, which has now been stabilized at about 2.79 cents to the franc. Foreign bonds spurted on the promise of stabilized currency for Italy and France, following quickly the action of Belgium in returning to the gold basis.

Charles Quinlivan, 509 Cunningham avenue, reported to the police this morning that as he was driving east on Croton avenue, that a truck bearing Pennsylvania license C 36-595 going in the same direction, ran into and damaged his machine. The driver of the truck ran away after the accident. He later appeared at the police station, giving the name of Sam Didio. It was found that he was operating the car with only a learner's permit and was taken before Alderman O. H. P. Green, where he paid a fine and costs for operating a car without a driver's license. The charge was made by Chief of Police Henry Dysart.

W. L. Smith, R. D. No. 3, reported that he was driving west on Falls street, when a car, the number of which he did not secure came out of Cochran way and the machines came together some damage being done.

Howard Gilmore of 920 Beckford street, reported that he was driving on East Washington street near Croton avenue, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license B 99-831 went into park and then started out and the machines came together. Some damage was done.

Beef Loaf—Ten pounds of chipped beef, salt and pepper to taste; one cup cracker crumbs, two eggs and milk to moisten, place in center of roaster and slice one onion, about four tomatoes and one pepper around it. Pour over it one cup of water.

Baked Corn—Cut corn from one dozen ears, mix it with two tablespoons flour, two eggs, salt and pepper and one quart milk. Turn in a well buttered dish and bake about two hours. For the rolls make bread dough in the usual way. When ready to mold into loaves cut and shape in small rolls and dip each one in melted butter. Let raise very light and bake.

This menu was planned for a company of twenty or more people, hence the variety and quantities.

SUGGESTIONS

Before putting aprons, dresses and boy's trousers into the wash turn out the pockets and brush them with a whiskbroom. Often particles in the pocket will cause discolorations of the fabric.

When making fruit or berry pies it is just as easy to cut the bottom crust half an inch larger than actually required. Then after the top crust is on this can be folded over upper crust like a hem and the juice cannot escape.

A housekeeper writes that until lately she found seh sewed more buttons on B. V. D.'s and pajamas than on anything else. One day she noticed a piece of tape lying in the button drawer and the following idea came to her. She says: "The tape was quarter-inch wide (like a shoestring). I cut one end of this, slanting up to a point so that it could be easily drawn through the holes in button. I then cut it in one and one-half inch pieces—as many as needed—drew this through the button holes and placed them where needed. I then took a piece of half-inch tape long enough to go down the entire length of the pajamas and stitched this down on each side, catching the tape that held the buttons each time. I never sew buttons on these things any more. The buttons outwear the pajamas. This is also a valuable hint for a person with baby clothes. It can be done on nighties, kimonos and slips, using narrower tape. The best ones can be done with silk tape (such as is drawn through the tops of silk vests and stitched with ribbon.

Have you ever been bothered with your curtains slipping over the rods instead of hanging apart as you wished? One woman suggests the following which worked for her. She held them in place by winding rubber bands on the rods equal distances from the ends of the rods. The hems in the curtains were slightly over the rubber bands, so the bands did not show, and the curtains can no longer slip out of place on the rods.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The body of the Rev. Edward W. Hall, who was slain with Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills in a "lovers' lane" near New Brunswick, N. J., on the night of September 14, 1922, was removed from the Stevens family vault at Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn, today for a second autopsy.

The purpose of the new autopsy is to determine precisely the manner in which the clergyman was killed and whether his body had been mutilated. The autopsy was to be performed by Dr. Otto Schultze.

Meanwhile an official report on the condition of the body of Mrs. Mills, disinterred Thursday, was being sent by Dr. Schultze to Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor in the murder trial of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, the slain rector's widow, and her two brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, which begins in Somerville, N. J., next Wednesday.

Conflicting Reports On King's Illness

Due to the numerous and many conflicting reports received here all Bucharest reports are now being received with reserve.

Today's Storyette

One morning at breakfast Maria asked her mistress if she might get off next Sunday to attend her brother's funeral. Of course, even if special company had been invited, brother's funeral had to be attended and permission was granted reluctantly.

After Maria's mistress got upstairs, however, she remembered that it was Tuesday and wondered what Maria was trying to put over on her. So she went down to the kitchen to find out.

"See here, Maria," she said, "you say your brother isn't going to be buried until Sunday? Today's only Tuesday."

"Yass'm,' said Maria mournfully, 'but dey ain't goin' to hang him 'till Friday."

Postpone Hearing Of Woman Held On Complicity Charge

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 30.—The hearing of Mrs. Ida Barger Stewart, charged with complicity in the death of Sam Abraham, Canonsburg peddler, for which her husband, Charles Stewart, local automobile merchant, is held in county jail, today was postponed until Monday by Justice Edward R. Patterson when a material witness to the shooting failed to appear in court.

Abraham was shot at the Stewart home during a quarrel with the couple. Stewart admitted firing the fatal shot, alleging that Abraham threatened him with a revolver after a dispute in which Mrs. Stewart alleged the peddler insulted her.

Indications that the state will attempt to prove that Robbery motivated the shooting were seen in a preliminary hearing at which Sanford Baker, negro, of Waynesburg, testified that Abraham had a large sum of money in his possession shortly before the shooting. Police claimed they found only a small sum in the peddlers clothing when summoned to the Stewart home.

Both Parties Face Deficits, Campaign Over

Financial Troubles Indirectly Blamed On "Slush Fund" Charges

STATEMENTS ARE ON FILE TODAY

Candidates Content To Allow Organizations To Sponsor Campaigns

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Both Republican and Democratic national organizations faced big deficits as the end of the 1926 campaign neared today, according to financial statements filed with the clerk of the house.

Bank loans have been resorted to in the financing of the final phases of the fight for control of congress, the statements disclosed.

Financial troubles are said by veteran collectors of campaign funds to be a direct result of the "slush fund" charges which followed in the wake of the spring primaries.

Not only are many regular contributors said to fear the publicity of campaign contributions but candidates have shown in their reports a keen desire to let the organizations take over campaigns and relieve them of the odium of a senate committee investigation.

The Democratic national committee started the fall fight with an old deficit of $261,999.27 and had raised it to $286,999.27 on October 27, according to its statement. Bank loans totalling $25,000 were recorded.

Big Bank Loan

The Republican national committee's report of the condition of its funds on October 25 showed it had spent $102,936.25 more than it had received. In addition the committee made a $50,000 bank loan.

Both parties are understood to be making financial appeals with all the vigor of Liberty Loan campaigns in order to clear their books by the time the voters go to the polls Tuesday.

The Republican difficulty in obtaining funds was emphasized by a comparison of its report of contributions totalling $244,068.79 on October 25, as compared to $431,443 on the same day of the last off-year campaign of four years ago.

Contributions to the Democratic national committee, including loans were reported as $60,033.60 as compared to $80,512.50 four years ago, but the senatorial campaign committee increased its collections for this year's fight.

Republican committees carrying on the congressional campaign had reported an outlay of $277,120.23 today, while the Democratic committees had spent $106,207.61.

$12,000 In Damages Asked As Result Of Auto Accident

Samuel Gaglano's Legs Broken When Hit By Machine Of Marshall McAnlis

Samuel Gaglano, aged 8 years, by his father, Salvatore Gaglano, has filed a suit against George McAnlis in which $12,000 is asked for injuries sustained by Samuel Gaglano, when he was run over by an automobile driven by Marshall McAnlis, son of George McAnlis.

According to the statement of claim a parade of Flint autos was passing along Lafayette street on March 26, 1925. Drivers of the machines were throwing out sample packages of candy.

Samuel Gaglane, in company with a number of other boys started to run across the street to get one of the packages, when a machine driven by Marshall McAnlis ran over him, breaking both his legs, and otherwise injuring him.

It is claimed by the plaintiff that the McAnlis machine was being driven at 45 miles per hour, and although there was a plain view of the street ahead, the speed was not slackened as the boys started to run across the street. It is alleged that the auto was being recklessly operated.

Damages in the sum of $10,000 is asked for the boy and $2,000 for the father.

PONTIAC SIX
$825
SEDAN or COUPE

You need to drive a Pontiac Six for only thirty minutes to discover abilities and qualities absolutely unique at the price.

You experience a mastery of performance once undreamed of in any low-cost six—acceleration that borders on the sensational, lugging power and sustained high speed capacity that would be impossible save for the fact that the Pontiac Six engine is the largest six-cylinder power plant used in any car costing less than $1000.

Yet, unprecedented as they are, these performance results only typify the pronounced over-all superiority that has made Pontiac Six such a spectacular success from the day of its presentation.

In the beauty of its Fisher bodies, in its supreme roadability, in its economy of operation and its unfailing stamina, the Pontiac Six represents a decisive departure from the standards that once ruled in the field of low-cost sixes—

—a fact that you can prove to your own satisfaction by a thirty minute drive—at any time, under any condition.

Pinchot Plans State Support To Elections

Governor And Attorney General Pledge Selves To Prevent Fraud

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 30.—Governor Gifford Pinchot and the office of the attorney general today were pledged to do their utmost to prevent fraud at next Tuesday's election. The governor in a letter to William B. Wilson, Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate, last night made that pledge.

It is made the governor said "at a time when public opinion all over America in favor of clean elections has been stirred as never before by election scandals in Pennsylvania.

The Pinchot pledge is the result of a letter which Wilson wrote him, deploring election scandals in the state especially in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

The governor made it plain that the power of the executive is limited in election matters. However, he reminded Wilson that fraud in the election of a U. S. senator is a violation of the federal laws and that the senate itself may demand an accounting.

A new trial has also been asked in the case of T. A. Preston against Paul R. Young. This was a case in which the jury awarded a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $60.63, damage to an automobile in a collision. Young claims that he had no notice of the time for the trial.
